ADVENTIST CHURCH OPENS ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT

Number of Glendale Folk Attend; Varied Programs
Will Be Offered

Beneath the canvas tops of a tent city at Vermont and Slauson avenues in Los Angeles, representatives of Seventh-day Adventist churches in Los Angeles, Ventura, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties, and guests from as far away as Washington, D. C., are gathered for the annual encampment of the Southern California Conference of Seventh-day Adventist churches, which opened last night and which will continue until September 10.

A splendid attendance is reported for the opening meeting last night in the pavilion tent, where Pastor A. G. Daniels spoke on "The Coming of the Lord."

The church people began arriving yesterday morning at the camp ground and by afternoon some of the tents were fully equipped and the occupants comfortably settled, while a constant stream of heavily-laden automobiles poured onto the camp grounds and young and old busied themselves in finding locations, unpacking and getting supper in time for the first meeting in the big pavilion tent last night.

Started Over 30 Years
For over thirty years the Seventh-day Adventists of southern California have been holding these annual gatherings and the growth and development of the churches will be reflected in the increased attendance and added interest at the present encampment.

A visitor to the camp grounds cannot fail to notice the splendid arrangement of the living, meeting and service tents, supervised by G. W. Reaser of Glendale. According to Mr. Reaser, 400 family tents are arranged along the camp streets inclosing the meeting and service tents.

In addition to the living tents there are twelve service and meeting tents, including the pavilion tent for general meetings with a seating capacity of 3,500; a young people's tent; junior and intermediate children's tent; primary children's tent; kindergarten tent; Spanish tent; German tent; cafeteria tent, seating 1,000; (Continued on Page 16)

TWO CHANGES IN CITY POSITIONS

Vandewater Now at Head of Building Bureau; Paul
Vissman Is Inspector

Two changes in the municipal family were reported this morning at the city hall.
Henry Hollenbeck of 1129 Western avenue has resigned his position as city sanitary inspector and expects to take up work with either the county or state health departments. He is credited with ten years of service with the city of Glendale. Mr. Hollenbeck first entered the employ of the city twelve years ago as a street inspector. After several years in this department, he was transferred to the police department, then divided his time between the health and police departments. About four years ago he joined the Long Beach police department and was away from Glendale for two years. Upon his return he was appointed local sanitary inspector.

Paul H. Vissman of 108 North Brand boulevard this morning began his duties as new sanitary inspector. He is lieutenant of the local company of the National Guard and is well known at the city hall.
New Building Head
E. G. Spaulding of 811 East Colorado street has resigned his position as superintendent of the building department. He has been a member of the city's official family for the past six months. During this time he made many friends among local contractors.
H. C. Vandewater of 642 North Central avenue this morning began his duties as head of the building department. He has been a resident of Glendale for the past two years and has spent a large portion of his life in building work. He supervised the construction of large plants at Kittanning, Pa., and Tulsa, Okla., for the United States Compression Inner Tube company. He is a native of the "show me" state.

Cats Offered Free By Unwilling Owner

Mrs. Mary Fraser of 228 1/2 South Jackson street has reported that "somebody left a bunch of cats at her house." She has made an official request that they be taken away. She is wondering how she got such a reputation in the neighborhood for kindnessness that her back yard should be made into a "cattery."

City Declines to Decide Upon Site for Park Bridge

The city council of Glendale has refused to take any part, officially, in the selection of a site for the proposed bridge connecting a local street with Griffith park.

The city planning commission of Los Angeles some time ago asked Glendale to designate which street it wanted connected with the proposed bridge. The council took no action.

Then several organizations in different sections of the city started campaigns for as many different streets. Last night E. D. Yard filed with the council a petition, signed by about 600 property owners, asking that West Broadway be the favored thoroughfare.

It happened that some people in the audience had different views—even the council was divided. A discussion resulted. Councilman A. H. Lapham declared for West Broadway. Councilman Sam Davis spoke for Colorado. Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson favored Park and Mayor Robinson, a resident of Windsor road, shouted for that thoroughfare.

And so someone suggested that the council do officially what it has been doing unofficially—nothing toward making a selection.

Therefore, as that appealed as a good "out" to the members, on motion of Stephenson, seconded by Lapham, the city council of Glendale will officially notify the planning commission of Los Angeles that it wants nothing whatever to do with the selection of the bridge site.

"Let the commission select the site—it will do so anyway," commented Mayor Robinson.

CLUB OPPOSED TO SECTIONAL LINES CHANGES NAME

East Glendale Advancement
Association Drops Title Indicating Division

The East Glendale Advancement association yesterday voted to change its name to the Glendale Advancement association.

Motion to this effect was made by Councilman C. E. Kimlin, who deplored the existence of "sectionalism" in the city.

The weekly luncheon was held as usual at 637 East Broadway, in the Broadway Inn.

President C. W. Ingledue, who presided, announced that F. W. Twining had pledged $1500 in behalf of the E. P. Newport company to the $25,000 bonus to be paid for the establishment of a streetcar service on Glendale avenue.

Mr. Twining made a very enthusiastic speech on the subject of transportation, and made an earnest appeal that every effort be made to collect the balance of this bonus at once. He suggested next Thursday noon as a suitable time to turn in the "missing" $17,000.

Against Division Line
Speaking against sectionalism in the most forceful language possible, Mr. Twining declared: "I want to tell you that any time you make a division line in this town, you are doing something that is harmful to every man, woman and child in the town. The sooner we cut out all this talk about the 'east side' and the 'west side' the better it is going to be."

The Glendale & Montrose Railway company was represented at the luncheon by P. L. Hatch, of 618 North Kenwood street, its superintendent and general manager, and Val Haresnap of Los Angeles, its secretary and treasurer.

"I believe the Glendale & Montrose Railway will get a patronage two or three times as big as they think they will," remarked Mr. Twining discussing the new line. "Every mode of transportation that is opened up from Glendale into Los Angeles is an improvement. If $25,000 is going to give us another line into the city, what are we sitting around for?"

Interest of Others
Both LaCrescenta and Montrose should be vitally interested in the new line in the opinion of Mr. Twining. He also commented upon the fact that it would connect the new Sparr tract with Los Angeles. He promised to see those interested in this property in regard to a substantial donation.

John P. Lampert, of 632 East Broadway, chairman of the transportation committee, reported that the collection of this bonus seemed more optimistic.
An invitation from the Glendale Exchange club for the members of this association to attend a picnic on Admission day, September 9, in Glendale-Verdugo Park was read by Secretary Herman Nelson. Motion was made by C. F. Stuart, of 638 East Broadway that the invitation be accepted with thanks.

CORNELIA GOERTZ AND H. EVERETTE ARE MARRIED

Couple Wed at Home of Bride's Parents; Informal
Reception Follows

The wedding of Miss Cornelia E. Goertz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Goertz of 347 North Central avenue, and Herschel H. Everette of Glendale took place last night, Thursday, August 31, 1922, at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride, Rev. Oxlam of the First Methodist church of Los Angeles officiated at the single ring ceremony, which was witnessed by a group of fifty relatives and friends.

Proceeding the wedding Miss Ruth Morris of Los Angeles sang "All For You," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. H. Wiebe, sister of the bride. Mrs. Wiebe also played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" as the members of the bridal party entered and took their place in front of the fireplace, which had been banked with ferns, palms and greenery. On either side was a vase filled with asters in the pink and orchid shades. Sweet peas in pastel colors also formed part of the decorative scheme.

Bridal Party Costumes
The bride's gown was of white silk canton crepe. Her silk net veil was caught with lilies of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Linda Goertz, attended her as bridesmaid and wore a costume of apricot colored georgette crepe, carrying a bouquet of sweet peas. Little Lenore Wiebe, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a charming frock of yellow organza and scattered rose petals. Arthur Fisher of Los Angeles was the best man. After the ceremony Mrs. Wiebe played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

An informal reception followed the wedding, during which bride's cake and refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Everette left on their honeymoon trip to "parts unknown." They went by automobile and will be gone a week. On their return they will be at home in their new five room stucco house which is being completed at 522 Mountain street.

MISS KITTERMAN GUEST OF HONOR

Bride-Elect Receives Number of Gifts at Residence of Dorothy Hamilton

Miss Lavera Kitterman, whose marriage to C. E. Percy is to take place September 6, was showered with gifts of linen at a pre-nuptial affair given last night by Miss Dorothy Hamilton at her home at 350 Ivy street. Miss Hamilton was assisted in receiving and entertaining by her aunt, Mrs. Katherine Lord.

Pink and gold were combined in the decorations and appointments for the affair. In the center of the table, upon which a luncheon was served, was a large bouquet of pink chrysanthemums, while tiny pink and gold favor baskets and cards decorated with handpainted bride's bouquets marked the places.

Games and music were the entertaining features of the evening. Particularly enjoyable was the message the ouija board gave of Miss Kitterman's future.
Dan Cupid Appears
Late in the evening Miss Kitterman was summoned to the door, where she found a little fellow in the disguise of Cupid, pulling a little pink and gold wagon containing the gifts of linen.

Miss Hamilton invited for the affair Mesdames C. R. Lusby, Ellis Thomas, Emil Koffer, Leslie Percy, S. D. Percy, R. F. Kitterman and F. E. Burner of Stanton, Neb., and Misses Helen Ingledue, Dora Wainwright, Eleanor Perkins, Ruth Stafford, Lois Percy, Mabel Cunningham, Mildred and Alice Johnson.

Garden Party Next Thursday Is Planned

A garden party is being planned for Thursday night, September 7, at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of Dr. G. Kaemmerling, Lexington drive and Orange street, for the benefit of the organ fund of the Congregational church. Mrs. Charles A. Parker is chairman of arrangements. A meeting of the committee is to be held at her home, 212 North Orange street, tomorrow afternoon to complete plans.
Among the various features of the party will be an orchestra, punch stand, ice cream booth, fortune telling, candy booth, guessing contests and side shows.

Council Divided On What to Give. Election Boards

On motion of Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson, the city council last night voted to pay election officers $5 each for serving the city in the canvass of the vote on the bond issues, Councilman A. H. Lapham and Mayor Spencer Robinson voting with Stephenson and Councilman Sam Davis voting against the resolution, holding that $2 was enough.

And after the motion prevailed, Davis continued to protest, saying that the election officers received $10 each from the county, that the city in the past had paid but $2 for like service and that the "council was making a present of about $600 of the people's money."

So hard did Davis protest that, on motion of Lapham, the council finally voted to rescind its action and "consider the matter" until its meeting next Tuesday night. Stephenson voted against reconsidering, holding that the election officers are entitled to the $5.

"My wife and son happened to serve on the board and if this council decides to pay $5 I will give my check to the city for $6, for I hold that the members of my family, as well as the rest of the boards, are entitled to $2 each and that's all," declared Davis.

"The boards worked all night and some of them part of the next day; $2 is too little," asserted Stephenson.

ELEVEN LADS OF HI-Y CLUB GO TO CATALINA

Glendale District Delegates to Annual Training Camp
Leave This Morning

Eleven happy boys from the Hi-Y club of the Glendale district, which includes Eagle Rock, Glendale and Burbank, are now at Camp Leon V. Shaw, Catalina Island, for a week of recreation combined with serious study. The boys left Glendale early this morning for Wilmington, where they boarded the "Avalon" for Catalina.

The boys are delegates to the second annual Hi-Y training camp, which is held at Camp Shaw from September 1 to 8 under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. At this camp are representatives from among the high school students of each district in southern California, who will exchange ideas, discuss their common problems and work out plans for future work, while thoroughly enjoying the camp life on Catalina.

Have Daily Program
A program for every day in camp has been worked out. The mornings will be devoted to study and discussion, while in the afternoons and evenings the boys will have an athletic and recreational program. A general plan of the events of each day is as follows:

Morning—First period, Bible study; second period, inspiration; talk; third period, quiet hour and personal devotions; fourth period, principles of leadership; fifth period, Hi-Y methods.
Afternoon—Games, athletics, swimming, etc.
Evening—Games, personal interviews, campfire, stunts, talks, etc.

A number of prominent boy workers and other notable persons are to be at the camp at least part of the time, and the program contains arrangements for addresses by a number of Y. M. C. A. and other workers.

Keep Them Interested
Roy E. Dickerson of the International Y. M. C. A. committee is to be in general charge of the religious program, while Ralph Cole, state boys' secretary, is expected to keep the boys interested with his stories of a recent trip to Europe.

The boys will remain at the camp until next Friday, when they will take the afternoon boat back to Wilmington, arriving home about 7 o'clock in the evening.

M'Bryde Gets Wires Bonus Bill Passes

Commander James F. McBryde of Glendale post No. 127, American Legion, has received telegram from Senator Hiram Johnson and Samuel Shortridge in Washington informing him that the adjusted compensation bill, known as the soldier's bonus, has passed the senate.

SERVICE MESSAGE IS RECEIVED BY ROTARY CLUB

Jack Williams, Governor of District, Tells of Council
by Head Officials

Glendale's Rotary club yesterday had what might well be termed a field day.

The Monrovia club members were guests of the occasion while visitors from San Fernando and Burbank were present and enjoyed the dinner spread by the Glen Inn.

Jack Williams of Long Beach, district governor of Rotary International, was among the many prominent visiting Rotarians which included representatives of the Los Angeles, Alameda, Parsons, Kan., and Mission, Tex., clubs.

F. J. W. Henry led the singing and both he and Paul Carson, organist, favored the club with some days of singing by telephone number. Following routine business, announcements, and introduction of the visitors, Governor Williams was called upon to speak.

Message of Service
Having just returned from the council of international officers at Chicago Williams was not like the farmer stuck in the middle of the road with nothing to unload. He had a message of service for the members of the club which deeply impressed the many non-members.

"Rotary is a world-wide movement," he said, "with the objects in view of creating a better fellowship and understanding, not only among men, but among nations of the earth; and a means of doing this through international peace and good will."
"Rotary means something more than better business and good fellowship," the speaker pointed out, "telling of the 1250 clubs now organized and what they were doing in boys' work, education and business methods. Most pertinent was his advice, 'Let us do a few things well rather than many things poorly.'"

Formula for Normalcy
While most of his talk was for Rotarians only, Mr. Williams urged the return of normal conditions by use of the following formula: "Work more, do more, loaf less and talk less."
"Rotary is teaching the world that nations, like men, are only happy through service," he said in conclusion.

A conference of presidents and secretaries of district No. 2 will be held at Berkeley September 21 and 22 and it is expected that both Roy L. Kent, president, and Rene Olin, secretary, will attend from Glendale.

The exchange club extended an invitation to the Rotarians to attend a picnic at the new city park on September 9.

Hostess at Benefit to Fund for Club

Mrs. Emma Batz of 430 Vine street entertained with a card party at her home yesterday afternoon for the benefit of the building fund of the Tuesday afternoon club. First prize of $500 was awarded to Mrs. E. A. Augustin and first prize at bridge to Mrs. Harry McMullin. During the afternoon punch and delicious refreshments of ice-cream and cake were served.

The guests included Mrs. Charles A. Parker, Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Sr., Mrs. R. D. Angelica, Mrs. E. A. Augustin, Mrs. J. A. Appel, Mrs. L. Aichholz, Mrs. R. C. Horner, Mrs. Chester Kling, Mrs. Halstead, Mrs. Colin Cable, Mrs. Harry McMullin, Mrs. J. H. Hearnshaw, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. A. H. Lapham, Mrs. William Nash, Mrs. Arthur Dibbern, Mrs. J. A. Wright, Mrs. George Pratt, Mrs. Walter Jones and the hostess, Mrs. Batz.

Burns Family Enjoy Camp Trip In North

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burns and sons, Robert and Lawrence, of 132 South Louse street, have returned home after a two weeks' camping trip in the north. After a four days' trip up the coast as far as San Francisco eight days were spent in the "Big Basin" of the Santa Cruz mountains. Leaving the park early Monday morning and spending one day at the home of Mr. Burns' sister in Tulare, they reached Glendale on Wednesday noon and report a delightful trip.

EPISCOPAL LEADERS TO HEAR SHOPMEN'S CASE
PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 1.—A representative of the striking railroad shopmen in Portland appeared before the session of Episcopal bishops here today and presented the case of the 400,000 shopmen of the country who are on strike. The bishops, who are in preliminary session here, preparatory to the forty-seventh triennial general convention of the protestant Episcopal church, agreed to the request that the shopmen's representative address them, but on the condition that they listen to the arguments as individuals and not as church representatives.

HUSBAND OF WOMAN HELD FOR MURDER IS HOME
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—For the purpose of completing plans for the defense of his wife, Clara Phillips, charged with the "hammer murder" of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, Armour L. Phillips was expected to confer today with her attorneys, following his return from a visit of several weeks in Texas. Phillips went to Texas, it was announced, to raise funds to finance the defense of his wife and to secure a witness to testify at her trial, which is scheduled to begin September 18. Mrs. Phillips, former chorus girl, is under indictment charging her with beating to death with a hammer on Montecito drive the woman she is believed to have regarded as her rival for the affections of Phillips.

WOOD REFUSES TO RUN AGAINST F. RICHARDSON
SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1.—Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, today rejected a proposal of administration leaders that he become an independent candidate for governor. It is understood that Wood was offered the unified support of Governor Stephens' administration. Wood made the following statement: "I have been asked to enter the gubernatorial race as an independent candidate and although I appreciate the honor conferred upon me, I have declined to become a candidate. The people have spoken and I believe it would be base ingratitude for me to thrust my candidacy upon them. Friend W. Richardson has won the Republican nomination, and although I consistently opposed him before the primary, I believe it would be an injustice to him for an independent candidate to now enter the race."

MAKE NEW EFFORT TO RESCUE ENTOMBED MINERS
JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 1.—Powerful diamond drills were being rushed here today in a new effort to get relief to forty-seven miners entrapped in the mile-deep Argonaut gold mine since last Monday. With these it is planned to drive several three-inch holes through solid rock in the lower workings of the Argonaut mine from the Kennedy shaft adjoining. Through these drill holes pipes will be passed and it will then be possible to communicate with the imprisoned men if they are alive and speed on the shaft being driven from the Kennedy mine through the rescue work ultimately will have to be carried out. How much longer it will take to complete this the experts cannot say. It depends altogether on the conditions encountered foot by foot. The night shift unexpectedly gained seventy feet through the discovery on an open cross-cut in the path of the shaft they are driving. Repair work is proceeding on the shaft. The fire continues to abate and the fire area may be reached today by the mask gangs who brave the noxious gas and terrific heat of the mine's depths to carry on the repair work now in progress. It will be some time, however, before the fire area can be penetrated, it is said. In anticipation that it may soon be needed arrangements were made today to set up a receiving hospital 2000 feet under ground. The men, if rescued alive, will be first taken care of there before being sent to the surface.

ARBUCKLE WILL UNDERGO OPERATION IN JAPAN
TOKIO, Sept. 1.—Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle, famous film comedian, who was banned from the screen by Will H. Hays, following his sensational trial in San Francisco in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, will undergo a surgical operation immediately upon his arrival here. Arbuckle wireless from the liner today that an operation would be necessary upon reaching Tokio, requesting that hospital arrangements be made. The message did not state the nature or indicate what had happened to the rotund comedian. Arbuckle left San Francisco three weeks ago apparently in the best of health. It was announced he was on a tour of the world and would investigate film conditions in the Orient both from a distribution and production angle. He was later to proceed to Egypt and there meet Joseph Schenck, noted film producer, and Mrs. Schenck, Norma Talmadge. At the time of his departure some of his friends said he was partially making the trip for his health which had given them worry since his trial.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—Friends of Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle expressed great surprise today upon being informed that the film comedian had made arrangements in advance of his arrival at Tokio to undergo a surgical operation. Lou Anger, personal friend of Arbuckle and Pacific coast manager for Joseph M. Schenck, stated that a few days ago he had a message from the comedian stating that he had to have his hand lanced while in Honolulu, having injured it aboard ship. Anger said, however, from Arbuckle's message that nothing serious had happened.

SUDDEN MOVE BY U. S. TIES MEN FROM ACTION

Wholesale Injunction to Act
All Over Nation; Running of Roads Protected

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 1.—"I say to — with this injunction!" Martin F. Ryan, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, declared today when informed by International News Service of the federal injunction granted against the striking shopmen. Ryan is one of the union officials enjoined.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—A temporary injunction restraining all striking shopcraft men and their leaders from interfering in any way whatsoever with the operation of the railroads throughout the country, was granted today by Federal Judge James A. Wilkerson at the request of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty. The hearing to make the order permanent was set for September 11.

The injunction order in its sweeping effect, ties up the funds of the striking unions and forbids the organizations to use them in furtherance of the strike.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—In a sensationally dramatic move that came with startling suddenness the United States government today threw down the gauntlet to the 400,000 striking shopmen and their leaders by asking a blanket injunction against their interfering in any way whatsoever with the operation of the railroads.

Acting on behalf of the federal government—Attorney General Daugherty appeared before Federal Judge James A. Wilkerson and personally made application for the most drastic act the United States government has yet taken to overcome the industrial crisis that confronts the nation.

This request from the attorney general, which does not brook of denial is the most sensational step taken by the government in labor troubles, rivaling even the sensational injunction against the United Mine Workers of America in the 1919 coal strike.

The results of such wholesale injunction, which virtually prohibits the striking shopmen and their leaders from doing anything in connection with the strike, is expected to be of far-reaching consequences. Passages in the injunction asked for are so stringent as to allow the interpretation of forbidding meetings of even the leaders in connection with the strike activities.

What Injunction Does
The injunction enjoins striking railroad men all over the country from:

First—Arguing with anyone who announces that he intends to go to work for a railroad.
Second—Parading.
Third—Holding public mass-meetings to show how strong the striking organizations are.
Fourth—Writing to a friend, advising him to leave railroad employment.
Fifth—Throwing stones at (Continued on Page 16)

GLENDALE FACTORY ROBBED OF $1500

Baldwin Shirt Plant In the Southern Section Loses
Quantity of Material

Silk and white shirting materials valued at $1500 were stolen early today by a band of thieves, believed to have been led by a woman, who operated from an automobile parked in the vicinity of San Fernando road and Brand boulevard, where the Baldwin Custom Shirt factory is located.
Entrance to the Gateway market building, in which the plant is located, was gained by the use of a "jimmy" on a north window, according to the police, who are investigating. The wholesale robbery was discovered by Ralph W. Dick, foreman of the factory, when he opened the establishment this morning and found all of the valuable pieces of goods gone.
George B. Karr, owner, estimates the loss at $1500, more than $1000 of which was in silk goods. Several incomplete shirts also were stolen. No insurance was carried, he states.

BONUS 'BILL' FATE RESTING WHOLLY WITH HARDING

Two Courses Remain Open to President, Declare Republican Leaders

By J. BART CAMPBELL
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The fate of the soldiers' bonus bill rests today with President Harding.

Two courses are open to him.
Republican leaders of congress agreed.

He can accept the views of almost two-thirds of the senate which was recorded for the bill when it passed the upper chamber, and sign it.

Or he can veto it secure in the knowledge that a scant more than one-third of the senate, or enough to sustain his veto, was recorded against it.

House Favors Bill
It is not believed that the house would sustain his veto of the bill.
It went on record March 23 by a vote of 333 to 70, as favoring a soldiers' bonus.

Senator Lodge is among the Republican leaders who are confident that when the bill is agreed to finally by the senate and the house the president will consider it carefully and seriously the fact that a large majority of Republican members of both branches of congress are on record as advocating a soldiers' bonus. They

Friend Richardson Appreciates Aid Of The Evening News

Friend W. Richardson, Republican nominee for governor, appreciates the aid given his campaign by The Glendale Evening News.

Last Tuesday, the day of the primaries, Mr. Richardson wrote the following to A. T.
Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News:

"Dear Friend—The big fight is now over and I am awaiting the returns. If I win it will be because of the loyal and unselfish support of my newspaper friends.

"Your paper has been in the front line of the battle and has done effective fighting. You have my deep appreciation.

"Yours sincerely,
"F. W. RICHARDSON."

are of the opinion that he will not act hastily if only because of the additional fact that the vote in both senate and house disclosed a small minority of his party
against it.

Hold to Predictions Anti-bonus senators, on the other hand, clung to their prediction that the president would veto whatever kind of a bill is sent to him finally, and that his veto would be sustained by at least thirty-eight votes in the senate, or five more than the thirty-three necessary to uphold it.

The McCumber bill was sent to the house today after the upper chamber committed it to conference. The house was also expected to send it to conference under the customary "gag rule" restricting debate.

Regional Planning Meet Here Thursday

The Los Angeles County
Regional Planning Conference, which is to hold its next session in Glendale September 16, was the subject of discussion today at the city hall in a conference between City Manager W. H. Reeves and George A. Damon of Los Angeles, chairman of the general committee on arrangements.

The sessions here are to be held in the Verdugo Woodlands, and a barbecue dinner will be served to the delegates at the old adobe home of Selvas de Verdugo which is now owned by the F. P.
Newport Company.

Subjects of general interest to the communities of Los Angeles county will be discussed by experts on these topics. Among them will be transportation, sanitation, flood control, parks and boulevards, zoning, legislation, and water supply.

Delegates will include county and municipal officials and representatives of numerous civic organizations.

NATIONAL FIGURES CONGRATULATE HI JOHNSON

Flood of Messages Arrive
for Senator; C. C. Moore Gives Out Statement

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—
With returns from outlying mountain precincts still missing —about 500 in all—Senator Hiram Johnson's lead in Tuesday's primary today has passed the 70-000 mark and on the ratio of the latest returns bids fair to pass the 75,000 mark, when the whole vote is in.

Senator Johnson continued today to receive a flood of congratulatory messages including one from his opponent, C. C. Moore, and many from his senatorial friends in Washington, including Senators Borah, McNary, McCormack and a score of other close friends in the upper house.

Statement from Moore
In his first statement since the elections, C. C. Moore had this to say:

"When it appeared that those electors not in sympathy with the policies of our senior senator would have no opportunity of expressing their opinion, I enlisted.
In accordance with the theory of the election, and at the sacrifice of my personal interests, I became a candidate. The necessity of this action is vindicated by the fact that otherwise approximately 45 per cent of the Republican electors of California would have been disenfranchised. The matter was entirely one of principle, and I presented my views during the campaign fairly and impartially. In the same spirit in which I volunteered in the cause originally, I now subscribe to the will of the majority and pledge my loyal support to the Republican party."

Seeking Candidate
With the victory of Friend W.
Richardson over Governor W. D.
Stephens assured by 20,000 for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, political attention was centered today upon the possibility of an independent candidate. Mayor James L. Rolph admitted that friends had urged him to enter the lists. At Sacramento there was talk of Clyde L. Seavey running as an independent.
He is a member of the board of control.

There is a question, according to some authorities, as to whether either could run as both voted at the primary election and some interpret this as barring them except as their name might be written in.

Another important political development was the announcement of Ray L. Benjamin that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself as state chairman of the Republican state committee. He revealed that it was his desire to retire some months ago, but was prevailed to remain at the helm until after the primary election.
The Republican state convention will be held later this month in Sacramento. Benjamin stated it was his desire to retire from politics.

Newest Wrinkle In Radio Is Now Here

One of the latest novelties which radio fans are talking about has made its appearance—the radio pencil.

Mounted on a lead pencil is a complete radio receiving outfit with the exception of phones and aerial. Four binding posts, for the phone, aerial and ground connections, are on the shaft, and a coil is wound around it. In the end of the pencil, instead of a rubber eraser, is a piece of crystal, with a sine spring wire touching its surface, for the detector.

Although the lead pencil receiving set is hardly larger than an ordinary lead pencil, it is said to receive successfully the concerts and messages from nearby broadcasting stations. The pencils are on display at the Glendale Bicycle Works, 120 North Brand.

Decidedly smart models in heavy, long-wearing cotton crepes, and in plain

Law Stringent on Headlight Lenses

Equipment has now been installed by the Day & Night Garage at 217 East Broadway for official headlight adjusting in Glendale and vicinity.
The state law is very stringent about headlights, because of the many accidents resulting from the glaring lenses. In order to be on the safe side of the police judge it is best to have your lights certified as proper, showing that you have taken due care to comply with the provisions of the law.

UNIQUE SURPRISE FEATURE STAGED

Berean Class of Baptist Church Holds Meeting In Unusual Way

A surprise in the nature of a "progressive party" was enjoyed yesterday by the Berean class, which represents the senior women of the Baptist church, with Mrs. J. F. Moody as president and Mrs. Edith Dockeray as teacher. The party took the place of the regular monthly meeting and the treat was greatly enjoyed by the members. The entertainment at the various places visited was provided by the individual members of the class.

The home of Mrs. E. Marsh, 229 North Maryland avenue was the first visited, where among the interesting things enjoyed was an original poem by Mrs. J. R. Bright, in which was set forth the fun of lying comforts in hot weather under the president's watchful eyes. The next visit was at Mrs. Bright's home, 319 North Maryland avenue, where each member was given a beautiful corsage bouquet of asters and ferns. The members were also entertained by vocal numbers by Mrs. Moody and Mrs. J. H. McKeever, including "In the Garden." Items in regard to some of the missionaries were read by Mrs. R. L. Kent and others.

The next stop was across the street at the beautiful home of Miss Bohannon, 314 North Maryland avenue. Readings were given there by Mrs. Sloat and Mrs. Edith Dockeray. Mrs. J. B. Dorse, teacher of the R. T. W. class, also gave a toast to the Bereans in the form of poetry.
Find Many Gifts
The last stop was at the home of the president, Mrs. J. F. Moody, 320 North Maryland avenue. Here the members found the many gifts they had been preparing for the summer Christmas tree placed on a long table. The donations from the class included comforts, bedding, fancy articles and so forth amounting to $100. These are to be sent to the various missionaries in order to reach them in time for Christmas. After they had been duly inspected and admired the members listened to the remainder of the program, which included a reading by Mrs. Robinson, and also suggestions for the work for the coming year. The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Maude Moody, and Miss Ethel Chase, served pineapple sherbet and home-made cake.

At the next meeting of the class, which will be in October, the annual election of officers will take place.

Nearly 40,000 immigrants have entered the United States during the first half of July, the majority coming from Italy, Russia, the United Kingdom, Germany, Greece and Czechoslovakia. About 320,000 more can enter during the remainder of the fiscal year.

L. A. AND POINTS EAST

The New Yorker and the Native Son met in the lobby of a Los Angeles downtown hotel. Naturally, the talk was of Los Angeles, her growth, and obvious prosperity. "By the way," said the Native Son, "where did you say you were from?" "New York City," was the reply. "By Jove!" was the enthusiastic retort of the Native Son. "That town is the Los Angeles of the Atlantic coast."

Serpents Rattle—Coyotes Give Opera

Kerny Leaman, a Boy Scout, who resides at 645 North Howard street, last night killed a diamond black rattler at the end of Howard street in the Verdugo wash. It is reported. The skin of the snake is on exhibition at the Leaman home.
The night before the neighborhood was kept awake by a coyote chorus yodeling a Yiddish foxtrot. It is stated, and some of the good Glendale folks confess that it's a wild life to be found in the hills here.

KIWANIS CLUB MEETS

"Kiwani's Ideals" was the topic of a short talk at noon today by A. L. Ferguson of 525 North Jackson street, chairman of the educational committee of the Glendale Kiwanis club. As usual the luncheon was held at 637 East Broadway in the Broadway Inn.

Many Drowned When Train Jumps Bridge

CAPE GINEARDEAU, Mo., Sept. 1.—Several persons are reported to have been drowned early today when a southbound Frisco passenger train went into the river at Star Landing, thirty miles north of here.

Telegraph wires between here and Star Landing were down due to a cloudburst and details are lacking.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—Division officials of the Frisco railroad, relief workers and doctors left here at 8 o'clock this morning for Star Landing, where a Frisco passenger train was reported to have plunged into a river early today.

Details of the accident were lacking here owing to disrupted telegraphic communication.

Unable to get in communication with the point of the accident and with train service lacking, newspapers were making impromptu arrangements to get men to the scene.

A reporter for the St. Louis Star left here shortly after 9 o'clock in an airplane for Star Landing, a distance of approximately 100 miles.

Meanwhile a desperate effort was being made to get into touch by telegraph and telephone with Star Landing or nearby points without success.

Whether the accident was caused by a bridge washout due to a cloudburst in that section of the state early this morning was not determined in the meager details that could be gathered.

Hungry Mobs Smash and Loot In Germany

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—Bloody food riots are occurring at Eberswalde. Hungry mobs smashed shop windows and looted the stores. The police tried to interfere and the mob turned on the officers. In the fighting which followed many were wounded.

Many of those in the mob marched from Berlin, 27 miles from Eberswalde.

The chief of the Berlin police force, who was on his way to New York to attend the convention of police chiefs, has abandoned his trip and was reported to be returning.

The police chief has told friends before his departure that he fears disorders.

LADY RHONDDA, CANDIDATE FOR HOUSE OF LORDS, SEES AMERICA

Viscountess Rhondda

Lady Rhondda, at last reports, was traveling incognito in Connecticut with a companion. She was reported to have registered in Stonington Manor Inn, at Stonington, Conn. After resting up and recuperating from her recent hard political battle she will return to England and plunge into the battle with renewed vigor.

Comes to United States for Vacation and Makes Trip Over Country Incognito

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Traveling incognito with a companion, Viscountess Rhondda, militant suffrage leader and the first woman to fight for a seat in the British house of lords, slipped quietly into New York recently on the liner Adriatic for a much-needed vacation.

She succeeded in escaping reporters who met the vessel at the dock, and scarcely any of the passengers knew that she was aboard.

Last reports were that she had registered at Stonington Manor Inn at Stonington, Conn.

Will Not Lecture
Viscountess Rhondda does not intend to appear before the American public, either in the role of a lecturer, like Mrs. Asquith, or to ally herself with the women's organizations, like Lady Astor.

She attributed her failure to win a seat in the house of lords to Lord Birkenhead, the lord chancellor, who, she says, is a man of great force.

"It will come," she declared, referring to the recognition of women by the peers. "It is a matter of principle and it must be set right.

"In England we hold your women's progress up constantly before our women, and I hear you feel somewhat the same way about us. Women are working together very well in England, and I do feel that we are ripe for 'equal rights.' The best men are with us."

Second Visit Here
Among the measures for which the viscountess is working and which belong to the equal rights group, are equal pay for men and women in civil service work, a widowed mothers' pension bill, a bill to make parents equal guardians of their children and a bill to change the status of illegitimate children.

This is not Viscountess Rhondda's first visit to America. The vivacious young woman, who gladly went to jail for setting a letter box on fire during the reign of the militant suffragists in England, and who then went on a hunger strike, was here seven years ago with her father, the late Lord Rhondda.

GIRL IN BATTLE TO SAVE KISSES

Alice Lake and Two Friends
Rescue Sweeties; Oh, Yes,
It's Thrilling Film!

The resourcefulness of the present-day American girl when thrown "on her own" is strikingly portrayed in "Kisses," Alice Lake's latest Metro picture, which will be shown today and tomorrow, at the Glendale theatre.

"Kisses" is the story of the struggle of Betty Estabrook to reimburse her dead father's creditors by embarking on a venture in which she learns not a little about the difficulties of playing the business game. She goes into the manufacture of B-Kissed Kandy with two friends—one a girl, the other a man. In spite of the attempt of an unscrupulous competitor to ruin them and in spite of the many discouragements incidental to the launching of the new business, Betty struggles bravely on, her courage undimmed and her spirit unbroken. Through out the picture the complications involved in her business struggle and the effort of two men to win her love provide a series of tense situations which make this picture of thrilling interest.

No set program of reception has been arranged at Secretary Denby's request.

of Camp Grounds

A three weeks' vacation trip north has just been enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Crawford and sons, of 1319 North Central avenue, who arrived home Tuesday. The Crawfords motored to the Feather river and Mt. Lassen country and also enjoyed camping and fishing at Yuba river, where they report excellent trout. They also visited in San Francisco and while there were Mrs. Crawford went down to their former home in Palo Alto, where she was honored with a luncheon at the McGilbray home.

Arriving in Southern California last Friday they motored to Huntington Beach to spend the weekend at their summer cabin.

Guards Nip Wreck Plot at Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—A plot to dynamite the Cuyahoga river bridge on the Belt line railroad was frustrated early today when four men were discovered digging a hole near one of the main supports of the bridge. When surprised in their activities, the men opened fire and routed the two guards, then escaped by jumping into the river and swimming to the shore and driving away in a waiting automobile. Many shots were fired, but none were effective.

Traffic across the bridge has been suspended. All bridges in the city are now under guard.

The hole which the men dug is five feet square and four feet deep.

The guards stationed at the bridge were attracted by the flashing of lights employed by the diggers. They approached and ordered the intruders to "get out of there." A fusillade of pistol shots was the reply. The guards returned the fire, then retreated, believing themselves outnumbered. Executing a flank attack they returned and opened fire again. Four men dashed from the pits and leaped into the river. The guards continued to fire until the men reached the opposite shore and entered the automobile.

MONEY OR TIME

A man I know sometimes criticizes his wife because she does not seem to get as much out of the dress allowance he gives her as he thinks she ought to.

"My sister hasn't as much money as you have," he says, "and look how well she dresses!"

He speaks the truth. The sister does dress better on less money. But he forgets a very important item. The sister has a little less money but she has four times as much time. She has no children and a tiny apartment. His wife has three children, no help and a large house. The time she can snatch for trips to town is very limited and it is always crowded with errands for house and children, leaving her only tag ends of time to spend on herself. And you cannot select a wardrobe that will be smart, becoming, and suitable, in any tag ends of time.

Several Hours a Week

The sister spends several hours a week in the shops, and all this time is devoted to selecting her gowns, suits, shoes, hats and the little accessories.

When I see a woman on the street who looks thoroughly well dressed I often think how much taste and either time or money must have gone into the buying of these clothes. I say time or money because if you have money enough to go into a smart shop and buy all you need there you can cut down your time expenditure. But if you have to shop around to cut down your money expenditure, then the time cost is sure to mount up frightfully.

Two Hours to Spend $3

Even the simplest little detail of a costume may use up an infinite amount of time when you are trying to have things just as you want them. I wanted a certain type of low white shoes this summer. I wanted them to be pumps with a strap and a very low heel. I went into nine shops before I found that type of shoe, except at the exorbitant price of $15, which I most certainly wouldn't pay. I was willing to pay $6 or $7. When I did find them I had the consolation of getting them marked down to $3. But to spend that $3 I had used up two hours of time which I could ill-spare.

Her Clothes Cost Time

Some weeks ago when I was talking about dress budgets and planning a wardrobe ahead, I spoke of a woman who on a small dress allowance attains wonderful results. I admitted then that she used a good deal of time, but I had no idea how much. Since then I have talked with her on the subject. She showed me two thin dresses and a white flannel skirt. The aggregate cost was about $3.50 and represented her chief addition to her hot weather wardrobe this year. "I have been in town every day this week," she said (it was Saturday), "and spent several hours each day looking around the shops. I bought two dresses and had them sent home and then brought them back because they did not look well after I tried them on, and yesterday I bought these two dresses and this skirt. I think they are the best values to be had in the city."

"I didn't doubt her. They were excellent values and very dainty and becoming. But how few of us could afford to shop that way."

"Genies," they say, "is simply an infinite capacity for taking pains." Truly a woman who is well dressed on a limited allowance shows a kind of genius.

NEWEST FASHION SUGGESTIONS

Left: Beaded georgette certainly holds its own as this informal little dinner gown of the softest rose pink with pearl beads proves. Right: White occupies the center of the stage so fashion decrees, and when of crepe and beaded in bugle beads, it becomes a gown of charming appearance. The pointed skirt and black sash are its chief characteristics.

BEAUTY CHATS

There are very few complexions that are not greatly benefited by applications of good creams. In the big cities, or manufacturing districts, the air is filled with sooty particles that settle upon the skin. Ordinary cleansing with soap and water will not remove this soil where a cream will as it can be worked into the pores dislodging these particles. There are virtues in the use of cream for a massage—since the oils nourish, keeping the skin youthful and elastic—that mean less tendency to form lines.

As people advance in years the oils in the body are being absorbed, which is the reason for so many skins shriveling. Such people should use cold cream liberally. It is the thin, nervous, energetic woman who is apt to age in this way unless she feeds both her skin and her body generously. Her cream should be made from the best nourishing oils, since they are both nourishing and cleansing. Of course, there is no harm in using the cleansing cream for its own purpose, but it has very little in it for nourishment.

The stout woman does not need the same amount of cream as the thin one, but she cannot neglect the cleansing process. During the hot season the cleansing cream is all that she will need. In this there is often no vegetable oil to fatten, and the bulk is comprised of a mineral oil which only acts as a lubricant. This makes a good cream for those inclined to oily skins.

COMMON TABLE SALT

As most of us will remember from our high school chemistry days, there are hundreds of different kinds of "salts," because to the chemist as salt is simply the production of a union of an acid with a base, usually an earthy substance of a metal. Lime, for instance, is a salt of carbonic acid and calcium, blue vitriol is a salt of copper and sulphuric acid. Epsom salts are salts of magnesium and sulphuric acid. But, just for convenience, when we say "salt" without any further qualifications, or "common table salt" or "table salt," we mean the familiar and appetizing chloride of sodium. Now, all these different salts of lime, of potash, of iron, of magnesium, are useful and necessary in the body, and we can get a regular supply of them by choosing the proper foods. But they are too gritty or too disagreeable to taste or upset the digestion or spoil the appetite too much in their pure form to be used freely as such in our diet.

Common table salt is simply the most convenient salty substance which can be used for keeping up the proper density or thickness of our blood under varying conditions, and which can be taken in large or small quantities as needed. We know that life without salt would be dietetically flat and stale. Salt is commonly accused of irritating the kidneys, inflaming the skin, causing rheumatism, eczema, Bright's disease, etc. We are told that we actually need to maintain our salt balance from half a teaspoon to a teaspoon and a half out of the salt cellar per day, but we actually eat on an average from the salt cellar in our foods from four to six teaspoons. That is to say, from five to ten times what we absolutely require.

Salt is so universally present in foods, in all our animal foods and almost all our vegetable ones, that even the most careful selection of those which contain the smallest traces of this omnipresent mineral it is impossible to pick out any diet on which life and health can be maintained, which

I, I, I, MYSELF; I THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME

CHAPTER XXIV That's Where I Made My Big Mistake

I had a birthday the other day and we had a little celebration. I was two months' old!

Daddy brought my Cherie and me home a lovely bouquet of white carnations. He said that the white carnation is a symbol of mothers' day and that he believed that children's birthdays should be celebrated by mamas as well as the children.

Daddy said he was going to teach me that I must remember, always, to give my mother a little gift on my birthday to let her know that I appreciate all that she has done to make such a wonderful child. I think that it is a very nice idea and I shall always adhere to it.

However, it was not about birthdays and pleasant things like that that I am going to tell you today. It is about a mistake I made, and how I suffered for it. I find that there seems to be attached to everything I do a little consequence, sometimes pleasant and sometimes unpleasant. I eat regularly and I grow. I sleep regularly and I grow. I love my family and I am happy and I make them happy. I contracted the bad habit of sucking my thumb and I had to have my arms in splints for over a week, night and day, just to break me of it.

Well, about my mistake and its consequences. The night of my birthday, instead of waking up about 2 o'clock as I usually do for a little nap, I slept the whole night through and did not wake until about 6 in the morning, when I am in the habit of having my breakfast. I think that I was a good example of that suggestion and auto-suggestion we are hearing so much about nowadays. There had been so much talk about what a lovely big boy I was for my two months of age, that I must have been impressed in my subconscious that I was too old to have to be nursed in the night! At any rate, whatever it was, the fact remains that I slept through the night without waking.

That's where I made my big mistake. The next night I did awake at the usual time and I was most ravenously hungry. I'll tell the universe. And I began to cry so my mother would know it was time for her to feed her offspring.

Usually before I cry two minutes I am in Muddie's arms and having my nourishment. Did I get it this time? I cried like something awful, too. I was hungry, I was hurt, and finally I was angry. I could be with righteous indignation! There is such a thing as righteous indignation. It is all right for me to get angry at that time. I wondered what could be the trouble that my Cherie did not come to me, and that increased the vehemence of my call.

Ah, I was rewarded. Came my Daddy. He was going to take me to his wife and my mother and I had comfort. And he didn't! No. He had in his hand my bottle in which I have my water given me occasionally so that I shall be used to the bottle when I am weaned, and he offered me that! Imagine offering water to one dying of hunger! I refused it, naturally!

Oh, come now. Sockums, old scout," he said. "Be good sport! You went all night last night without nursing and you were none the worse for it, and you can do it tonight! You are such a big boy now!" (Trying that auto-suggestion stuff on me again, you see. It did not work.) I cried even louder! At last my Cherie appeared. And she was going to take me up and Daddy said: "real stern: 'No, mama! You go back to bed, I shall manage this young man.' And she patted me and said some dear things to me and told me how unhappy it made her to hear me cry and would I forgive her? And I was a little ashamed. Daddy said: 'Come now, son, be a sport! Take your water and go to sleep. Think how much better it is going to be for mama when she does not have her rest disturbed to have to nurse you!'"

Well, I sobbed a little more, for you know we children cannot stop real grief suddenly, but I did take the water and I did go to sleep finally.

We went through the same sequence three nights in succession, has less than about a teaspoon a day in it.

In some cases of Bright's disease the inflamed and damaged kidneys had difficulty in filtering out the salts, so that it is retained and piled up in the body. This produces what is commonly known as "water beat." To relieve this condition the patient is put on a "salt free" diet, made up of foods containing the smallest amount of salt, such as potatoes, unsalted white bread, unsalted butter, certain kinds of fresh meat, eggs and certain vegetables and fruits, while at the same time the amount of water is limited. This diet will, in the course of a week or two, bring down the amount of salt in the body to a level at which even the kidneys can deal with it, and drain away the surplus water.

The same diet is sometimes useful in the case of dropsy due to heart disease and even that due to inflammation of the liver, but now I very rarely awaken at night and I am happy that I have developed so much force of character.

It's a Fact

KEEP FARMERS AWAKE

Spooners parking their automobiles along country roads are keeping Illinois farmers awake nights, therefore Sheriff Harris of Springfield has deputized 20 additional sheriffs, that the farm industry may get some sleep. "We can hear 'em laughing until after midnight," said one farmer who filed complaint with the sheriff. There is also a disposition to exclude spooners from parks and other semi-public places. By and by there will be nowhere else for loving couples to go but home.

BUYING POWER LESS

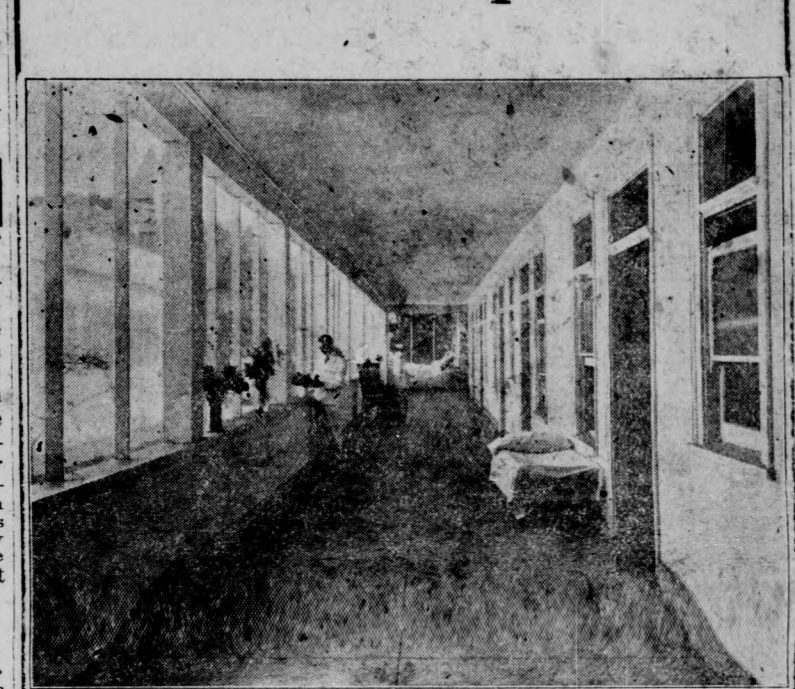

The income of the American farmer in June was able to buy only 72 per cent as much as in 1913, reports the department of agriculture. Meaning that the farmer's buying power is a fourth less than before the war. Until the gap is bridged, the exchange of products between farm and city cannot be normal unless the farmer spends more than he makes. To get a perfect balance, farm prices must rise or city prices will fall to the farmer's level. Which? Who knows?

VACATION IN WINTER

Pupils of the Lewis Peak school, 25 miles east of Walla Walla, Wash., are studying hard while most school children of the country are enjoying their vacation. The weather is so cold and the snow so deep in winter that school is not feasible in that district and it is then that the children have their vacation, which they spend at hunting and trapping in a region infested with deer, bear and coyotes.

Book Reviews

Readers who enjoy stories that portray strong character delineation will take delight in perusing the latest novel by Mary Roberts Rinehart, "The Breaking Point." Geo. H. Doran Co., publishers. From Judson Clark, the "wild" son of a wealthy family, to Doctor Richard Livingstone honored and respected by all is the bridge spanned by the principal character in this new story.

The author contends that against fear, that greatest of human emotions, the mind throws up a protective screen. Let a person but suffer beyond the limit of his endurance, and suddenly all recollection, all memory, is hidden behind a curtain of beneficent forgetfulness. It is "the breaking point."

So, when Judson Clark escapes to a mountain cabin after a mysterious shooting fray in which the husband of an actress with whom he is infatuated is killed, he loses memory of what had occurred. It is there that Dr. David Livingstone finds him and nurses him back to health. Later the doctor builds up a new character for the young man and tells him that he is his nephew. After a medical course Dr. Richard Livingstone takes over the practice of the elder doctor on a tree-shaded street of a quiet suburban town.

Into this quiet backwater, tragedy and sensation in the nature of reflections and references to Judson Clark and Dr. Richard Livingstone being the same person, thrust their way and the reader beholds spellbound the working out of a remarkable theme. "Dick" hearing the gossip and having no recollection of himself as Judson Clark goes back to the scene of the tragedy, through a visit to several vague. His mind goes back ten years to that time and he escapes again to the mountain cabin thinking he is being followed by a posse and will be arrested for the crime he is believed to have committed. After a serious illness his mind goes back to "David" and after many hardships he returns to the suburban village which to him is home and again re-establishes himself after many hardships. A romance is interwoven with this story, which is different from any Mrs. Rinehart has written. Mystery, and the tragedy of a forgotten past are the theme of the story.

"Off the Hook"

When your telephone is accidentally left "off the hook," the operator first answers as she would if you were placing a call. After repeated efforts, receiving no response, she reports your line as "out of order." It is then disconnected from the regular switchboard and placed on a special board where it awaits the attention of the repairing forces.

All this takes time. It involves tests, reports and generally a trip to the location of the trouble.

In the meantime, what happens?

Others have been unable to reach you by telephone.

Even if the mistake has been discovered and your telephone placed on the hook, service may not be restored until the "troubleman's" final O. K.

On a party line all other telephones on the line are deprived of both incoming and outgoing service for the same period of investigation and repair.

"Off the hook" is a most common cause of interruption to telephone service. By the exercise of care in this connection you will protect your service and avoid inconvenience to yourself and others.

SHORTER ROAD TO TUJUNGA BEING CONSTRUCTED

Cut-off Of Two Miles Will Result; News Notes of Glendale's Vicinity

A cut-off of two miles by the construction of a new road between Glendale and Tujunga is welcomed by many who motor frequently—some twice daily—between the two communities. On this new boulevard, through the Sparr ranch, grade stakes are being driven from Verdugo road through Verdugo Woodlands, to the Sparr subdivision and onward to Honolulu avenue. A well graded and oiled road to the Begue ranch in Tujunga is promised. The new route will relieve congestion on Michigan avenue.

Rural Delivery Undecided
An inspector from the post-office department and Assistant Postmaster Hallett of Glendale spent two days last week going over the Tujunga-Sunland territory in an effort to lay out an effective and satisfactory rural delivery route. This would be served from the Tujunga office. No decision was reached, but a tentative route is under advisement in connection with other routes to serve La Crescenta and La Canada districts. However, the shortness of the route, or of any route available, oddly is a factor against it. Rural carriers are paid on a mileage basis, and the average or standard route is twenty-four miles long. In this case, the distance of seventeen miles with bad, rocky roads, is considered a handicap. Delivery service up Tujunga canyon has not met with favorable consideration.

Register in Advance
Principal Axe of Tujunga grammar schools calls attention to the school opening date—September 11, but asks that pupils register the preceding Thursday or Friday, September 7 or 8. Pupils from first to fourth grade will register Thursday morning, and those from upper grades on Friday morning.

The American Legion post has proffered the use of the Legion hall for one of the lower classes until the new schoolrooms are completed. An old bungalow will house another class, giving room for seven classes this year, as against five last season. Manual training and domestic science will be on this year's schedule, also.

Moonshine for Moon Festival?
The recently reported discovery of an old fashioned mountain whisky still in one of the secluded canyons north of Tujunga last week, culminating in the arrest of James Forsythe and two others, has created much amusement because of its occurrence on the eve of the Moon Festival.

Three R's to the Fore
Childhood is glum, for school days are upon them again. September 11 in Burbank will see the kiddies back on the education job much as if vacation hadn't interrupted. New education features and improvements in the buildings will surprise the pupils. For instance, the domestic science rooms have been removed from the grammar building to the second floor in the old high school.

Progress and Prosperity
Two important announcements that have gladdened the hearts of property owners of Burbank are those announcing a reduced insurance rate on residences, and the lower tax rate.
Insurance men, backed by facts and figures, chief among which was the excellent fire department, secured the lower insurance rate, while the city dads, through the prosperity of the community and greater assessed valuations were enabled to lower the tax rate, which was $1.58 last year and but $1.13 for the new rate.

Ysleta, Texas, is the oldest town in the United States, according to tradition. It is believed the town was founded in 1540 by Don Francisco Vasquez Coronado, a Spanish explorer. This would make it 25 years older than St. Augustine, Florida, the oldest town of authentic record.

Close-in Property Going Vacation Facts, Fancies Interesting News Items Young Rich Men Work

By Gil A. Cowan

N Patterson park, on the west side of Glendale, this city has an asset that is worth double over the bond investment made by the municipality.

That is a well equipped swimming pool—which is about half the size it ought to be to accommodate the rapidly increasing population of the fast developing west side.

If you motor out that way one of these warm days you will not only find hundreds of happy boys and girls taking advantage of the cool plunge, but you will discover that close in residential property is fast being snapped up by shrewd investors.

Roland Square, for instance, is one of the last remaining subdivisions on the market and its sale is going steadily on through the heat of the summer with marked success, it is reported.

While many of the realtors have been on vacation, or waiting for prospective buyers to return from vacation, J. R. Grey and his associates have been forging to the front and advertising.

It is not to be expected that they will reap the immediate results that they will later, but those who give publicity to their tracts during the dull months will have their property indelibly impressed in the minds of the buyers months from now.

This vacation business is very demoralizing to life here, in a way, don't you know? For instance, J. Herbert Smith and wife are traveling in Germany at present.

W. E. Hewitt of the Glendale Laundry is in New York. H. S. Webb is at Del Monte.

There are many other business people who are away, but I am willing to gamble they wish they were back in Glendale.

C. C. Cooper, home from Hawaii, says two weeks at Honolulu is enough for anyone.

Among interesting items in the news recently, it is noted that a cesspool dicker in Eagle Rock is using a tin derby because his helper has dropped the dirt bucket on him a couple of times.

The Detroit chief of police has equipped his riot squad with machine guns and paper bullets. Not so bad, eh?

Glendale line, Pacific Electric, will be the first subway built out of Los Angeles, the Gotham of the West. Tally one for Glendale.

Governor Stephens lost the Republican nomination, but won on the prohibition ticket. And, because he is a Republican, he cannot run on the other ticket. Some primary law!

W. J. Pearson, Democrat nominee for U. S. senator, is reputed to be wealthy. Several papers which are for sale to the highest bidder will aid him in losing some money, undoubtedly. Already they have shown the inclination to aid anyone in a vain effort to defeat Hiram.

Says the Hollywood Daily Citizen: "Some newspapers seem to find a lot of interest or novelty in the fact that a millionaire's son works daily from 7:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. Frank Couzens, 20-year-old son of James Couzens, multimillionaire mayor of Detroit, and former associate of Henry Ford, is the youth in question. He is an inspector for a firm of architects and is saving his money because he is to be married next spring."

"The dispatches say that young Couzens cannot see anything extraordinary about his action. That is score number one for the son of the millionaire."

"All this shows how a few unrepresentative examples of the youth millionaire class can ruin the reputation of the whole brood. Just because young Whitney gets into a million-dollar mess with a dancer should not place other millionaire's sons in the class of the idle rich. In fact, we hazard a prediction that if a census of them were taken it would be found that more rich men's sons are working than not."

"As a matter of fact most millionaires work hard and their sons work hard, too. The sons of the house of Morgan are all credited with being hard workers. Edsel Ford was so busy in the factory he couldn't get off to go to war. Philip Armour III probably works harder than his famous grandfather. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has always worked hard. The McCormicks—perhaps excepting Harold—are all declared to be hard workers."

"Of course the rich work. That's the main reason they are rich. That might be interesting and valuable information to those who are always looking for less work and more money."

American Teachers to Get French Tips
PARIS.—Most French teachers in American schools know outrageously little about French life and customs and speak French with an accent that couldn't be understood in Paris, according to Professor Albert A. Meras, department of modern languages, Columbia university. Wherefore Prof. Meras is making arrangements with the Sorbonne so that a certain number of students from Teachers' college, Columbia, who are specializing in the teaching of French, may take a part of their course at the French university.

Next summer, Prof. Meras has announced, the first group of students will be sent over as a trial of the method. A Columbia professor will accompany the group, who will be candidates for a master's degree.

Married-by-Letter Wives Make Appeals

WASHINGTON — Unhappily wed couples whose matrimonial ventures were innocently promoted by Uncle Sam through the medium of the mails, are inundating the postoffice department with letters relating their domestic difficulties and asking for governmental aid, according to officials.

The epistles containing the sorrowful tales of deserted brides who embarked upon the good ship Matrimony only to run afoul of the rock of disillusionment and be left stranded are turned over to Solicitor Edwards, of the post-office department. The letters, Edwards says, often are pitiful in their contents. They plead for aid from the government in locating truant husbands. They tell of having been left in destitute circumstances far from home. Some blame the postal service for their marital woes. Others demand redress from the government, holding that they were wooed entirely through the mails, which, therefore, made the post-office department entirely responsible.

An excerpt of one such letter, which is said by Solicitor Edwards to be typical of all, reads as follows:

"I want to know if I can start suit against my husband. We married through a correspondence club advertised in the newspapers, and he sent me money by a post-office money order to come and marry him. He also courted me by mail. After the wedding he failed to support and take care of me and finally left me altogether. I want to know if I can do anything through the post-office department, as our business, such as arranging for marriage details, was transacted entirely by mail."

Postal Business in U. S. Grows Rapidly

WASHINGTON.—To the beginning of the present fiscal year the postoffice department had added thirty-five new first class post-offices to its list, bringing the total number of first class offices to 834, according to First Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett. This was an increase of $12,000, the new first class postmasters each receiving a salary of $3200 a year, Bartlett said.

ROLAND TRACT IS PROVING POPULAR

About Half of Popular Priced Lots Already Gone, Says John R. Grey

Real estate in Glendale is anything but at a standstill according to John R. Grey of 124 North Brand boulevard who reached this conclusion recently from the sales of lots in Roland Square.

Although this tract has only been open six days, almost half of its popular priced lots have been sold already.

Roland Square property becomes more valuable every day, according to Mr. Grey, on account of improvements which are being put in as fast as possible. Streets have been graded and sidewalks and curbs are being put in. As soon as this work has been completed the streets will be paved. Gas, water and electric wires will be placed next week.

Contractor Nathan Bickson of 224 West Doran street has been in readiness to be hauled to the tract. He will build a number of houses in this tract immediately.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.—Advertisement.

Organ Pumper Dozes; Found 6 Days Later

BISHOP'S STORTFORD, Eng.—Frank Phipps, aged 60, pumps the organ at St. John's church. He became tired, and perhaps the minister was a little loud in his sermon; at any rate, the services were not conducive to sleep. Frank dozed himself away in a hot-air chamber in the rear of the church, where he could not be disturbed by any hot air from the main part of the church. It took Frank several hours to sleep off his restlessness, and when he awoke he was locked in. Six days later he was discovered, but is now recovering.

World Too Fast, He Wants Prison Home

ALBANY.—Friendless, and lost without the protection of the Albany county jail, which for nearly thirty years has been his home, at his request, Gilbert Meade, a deaf mute, asked Police Judge John J. In making his unique appeal, Meade wrote on a slip of paper: "The world is too fast for me."

The Riddle of the Frozen Flame

By M. E. & T. W. HANSEW
Copyright, 1920 by Doubleday, Page & Company.

"Uncle Gustave told me to tell you that he does not believe a word of it, dearest!" she said, softly. "And he is going to make investigations himself. He is so unhappy, so terribly unhappy over it all. Such a tangled web as it is, such a wicked, wicked plot as they have woven about you! Oh, Nigel, dearest—why did you not tell me that they were detectives, these friends of yours who were coming to visit? If you had only said—"

He held her a moment, and then, leaning forward, kissed her gently upon the forehead. "What then, pitter?" "I would have made you send them away—I would! I would!" she cried vehemently. "They should not have come—not if I had wired to them myself! Something told me that day, after you were gone, that a dreadful thing would happen. I was frightened, and I could not tell you! I kept laughing at myself, trying to tease myself out of it, as though it were simply—what you call it?—the 'blues.' And now—this!"

He nodded. "And now—this," he said, grimly, and laughed. Bennett, hand upon watch, turned apologetically at this juncture.

"Sorry, Sir Nigel," he said, "but time's up. Ten minutes is the time allowed a prisoner, and—and I—afraid the young lady must go. It's up to me to tell you, sir, but—you'll understand. Dooty is dooty."

"Yes, doubtless, Bennett, though some people's idea of it is different from yours," returned Merriton, with a bleak smile. "Have no fear, Toinette! There is still plenty of time, and I shall engage the finest counsel in the land to stand for me. This knot shall be broken somehow, this issue of lies must have a favorable where. And nowadays circumstances, evidence, you know, doesn't hold too much water in a court of law. God bless you, little Toinette."

She clung to him a moment, her face suddenly lightening at the tenor of his words—so bravely spoken, with so little conviction behind them. But they had helped her, and for that he was glad.

When she had gone, he sat down on the edge of his narrow bed and dropped his face in the cup of his hands. How hopeless it seemed. What chance had he of a future now—with Cleek against him? Cleek the unravel-ler of a thousand riddles that had puzzled the cleverest brains in the universe! Cleek would never admit to having made a blunder this time—though there was a sort of grim satisfaction in the knowledge that he had blundered, though he himself was the victim.

He sat there for a long time, thinking, his brain wearied, his heart like lead. Bennett's heavily-footed steps on the stone floor brought him back again to realities. "There's another visitor, sir," said he. "A gentleman. Seen 'im up at the Towers. I 'ave 'im name of West, sir. Constable Roberts says as 'ow you may see 'im."

How kind of the constable, thought Nigel bitterly. His mouth twisted into a wry smile. Then his eyes lightened suddenly. Tony West, eh? So all the rats hadn't deserted the sinking ship, after all. There were still the old doctor, who came cheering him up with kind words, bringing him books that he thought he could read—as though a man could read books under such circumstances—and now Tony West—good old West!

West strode in, his five-foot-three of manhood looking as though he were ready to throw the latter's six-foot-one out of the window upon request, and seized Nigel's hand, wringing it furiously. "Good old Nigel! Gad! but it's fine to see you. And what fool put you in this idiotic predicament? Wring his damned neck, I would. How are you, old sport?"

They'll be putting that against you, too. Believe me, Nigel, old boy, the Law's the greatest duffer on earth. By the way, here's a piece of news for you! Heard it as I stopped in at the Towers this morning. Saw that man Headland, the detective. He told me to tell you, and I clean forgot. But they found an I. O. U. on Wynne's body, an I. O. U. for two thousand—in Lester Stark's name. Dated two nights before the party. Looks a bit funny, that, doesn't it?"

Funny? Merriton felt his heart suddenly bore up, and as suddenly drop back in his breast like lead. Glad that there was a chance for another pal to come under the same brutal way as he had? What sort of a friend was he, anyway? But an I. O. U.! And in Lester Stark's name! He remembered the black looks that passed between the two of them that night, remembered them as though they had been but yesterday. He jerked his chin up.

"What're they going to do about it?" "Headland told me to tell you that he was going to investigate the matter further. That you were to keep up your heart. . . . Seemed a decent sort of a chap, I must say."

Keep up his heart! . . . And there was a chance of someone else taking his share of the blame, after all! But Lester Stark wouldn't kill. Perhaps not—and yet, some months ago he had told him to his face that he'd like to send Wynne's body to burn in hell!

CHAPTER XVIII
POSSIBLE EXCITEMENT
Meanwhile, Cleek, Mr. Narkom, and Dollops stayed on at the Towers for such time as it would take to have the coroner's inquest arranged, and Merriton brought up before the local magistrate. Mr. Narkom was frankly uneasy over the whole affair.

"There's something fishy in it, Cleek," he kept saying. "I don't like the looks of it. Taking that innocent boy up for murder which I feel certain he never committed. Of course, circumstantial evidence points strongly against him,—but—"

"He's better out of the way at all events," interposed Cleek. "Mind you, I don't say the chap is innocent. Men of Wynne's calibre have the knack of raising the very devil in a person who is under their influence for long. And there's Borkins' story. The queer little one-sided smile looped up his cheek for a moment and was gone again in a twinkling. He crossed to where Mr. Narkom stood, and put a hand on his arm. "Tell me," he said, quietly, "did you ever hear of a chap squirming and moaning and doing the rest of the things that the man said Wynne was doing in the garden pathway, when a bullet had got him clean through the brain? Something 'fishy' there, if you like."

"I should think so," replied Mr. Narkom. "Why, the chap would have died instantly. Then you think Borkins himself is guilty?"

"On the contrary I do not," returned Cleek, emphatically. "If my theory's correct, Borkins is not the murderer of Daere Wynne. Much more likely to be Nigel Merriton, for that matter. Then there's the question of this I. O. U. that I found on the body. Signed 'Lester Stark,' and the doctor—Gad! what a loyal friend to have!—told me that Lester Stark, Merriton, and a little man called West were bosom friends and club-mates."

SCIENTISTS HELP FIND DESTROYER

Pacific Port Pest May Be Prevented From Doing Further Damage

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—The submarine terror of peace times is about to be checkmated. The tereido boring destroyer of pilings, which is credited with having done a million dollars' worth of damage to structures at salt water ports, may be definitely put out of business through the efforts of a little band of scientists who for two years have worked ceaselessly in an effort to find some method of destroying the little pest that eats his way through the staunchest pilings and destroys wharves, breakwaters and marine foundations of all sorts.

Deals Out Death
These scientists who have been conducting experiments under the direction of Professor J. S. Burd, head of the department of agricultural chemistry at the University of California, Berkeley, are reported to have found a chemical which is death dealing to the tereido.

Hitherto almost every sort of paint, oil and chemical had been tried by port authorities without avail. The menace of the tereido had become so general on the Pacific coast that government reports fixed the damage at $15,000,000 a year, with prospects of its growing worse.

The tereido is peculiarly a Pacific port pest, although flourishing elsewhere. The warm waters of the Japan current which flows along the Pacific coast is particularly to the liking of the little marine borer. Ship owners have long had trouble with the marine pest Alois Neubert is probably the only "submarine railroad" in the United States. He is employed by a big Pacific Coast railroad company to inspect its underwater pilings and water front structures. He says the popular conception of the ferocity of the man-eating shark is greatly exaggerated.

through its propensity to eat away ship bottoms.

Underwater Inspector
So serious has been its inroads on piling that it has developed a new type of railroad man—the underwater inspector. Alois Neubert is the only known "submarine railroad" in the United States. He is employed by a big Pacific Coast railroad company having extensive water front properties. He works entirely by "feel," doing most of his work of inspecting piling of wharves and bridges and "feeling over" underwater areas where construction work is planned, in muddy harbor water, where the sense of eyesight is of little use. He devotes most of his time to locating tereido inroads before they become serious enough to cause disaster.

Neubert, from experience on many jobs in tropical waters, says the popular impression of the man-eating shark is exaggerated. The "wolf of the sea" will not usually molest man unless injured or harassed, Neubert says.

ELECTRIC LIGHT ANTENNAE

The electric light antennae has attained quite a degree of popularity, especially in places where antennae are prohibited. This type of plug described below after its first appearance on the market has been redesigned and a new dielectric used in its construction, which makes it very good in its present style. Fourteen connections are allowed so that the proper condenser capacity can be obtained in series with the line. Mica dielectric used has a guarantee of standing a voltage up to 2500 volts. Complies also with the requirements of the Board of Fire Underwriters. Polarity is reversible.

MODULATION OF A TRANSMITTING TUBES OUTPUT

A common method of modulation employed in a vacuum tube radio transmitting equipment utilizes a tube as a modulator in addition to the oscillator tube, the plate current for these two frequency reactors. In a radio telephone transmitting equipment the degree of modulation is of equal importance to the amount of antenna current as far as the

One very simple and inexpensive method of keeping a check on this is to insert a miniature lamp in the plate of the amplifier. This will flash up when the microphone is spoken into and acts as an operating indicator of the microphone and modulation circuits. A type of lamp should be chosen that will show a low degree of brilliancy with the plate currents obtained on the tube being used. Automobile types of miniature lamps are recommended, as they

STINGS WRECK TWO CARS
A honey bee caught in the path of a moving automobile, stung W. T. Shannon at Cincinnati. Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FOUR-LEAF CLOVER

Uncle Wiggily sat on the porch of his hollow stump bungalow, as fast as the wind. But the Fox Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, his muskrat lady housekeeper, was walking through the field across the path. It was a field owned by Mr. Chuck, the groundhog gentleman. I have told you stories about Woodie and Waddie Chuck, so I think you may remember those woodchuck boys.

Every now and then Uncle Wiggily saw Nurse Jane walk more slowly. Then the muskrat lady would stop over as if looking for something. Next she would straighten up and joyfully murmur:

"There, I've found another!" "Nurse Jane must have broken her string of beads, and be finding them one by one," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. Then, being a kind rabbit gentleman, he gave his pink nose a twinkle, to awaken a little fly who was sleeping on it, and over the field hopped Mr. Longears.

"I have come to help you pick up your lost beads, Janie," he said. "That is very nice of you," spoke Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy with a smile. "But I haven't lost any beads."

"Then what are you so often picking up?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Four-leaf clovers," answered the muskrat lady. "There are more than I have ever seen before in this field."

"I don't see any," said Uncle Wiggily, looking at the clovers. "I see many with three leaves, but none with four leaves." "Ah, that's just it!" laughed Nurse Jane. "It isn't every one who can see clovers with four leaves. The three-leaf ones are very common, but those with four are very rare and scarce. That's why it is said to be very lucky to find a four-leaf clover—just like picking up a horseshoe."

"Hum!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Of course I don't believe that, but I should like to find a four-leaf clover just the same. You know there is no such thing as luck, Nurse Jane." "Well, really, I suppose there isn't," agreed the muskrat lady. "But it is a nice thought to have—that a four-leaf clover, so different from the three-leaf ones, may bring you luck. And if you have happy, jolly thoughts, Uncle Wiggily, even if they are only about clovers, it seems to make the day brighter. And when you think the day is bright, even though it may be cloudy and rainy, everything seems more pleasant."

"There is something in that," admitted the bunny. "I must try to find a four-leaf clover so I'll be lucky." But, however he looked and looked and looked, not one could he find, though Nurse Jane picked them up right and left. Sometimes it is that way, one person will find many four-leaf clovers and another may look in the same green clump and see not one, though many may be there. It is just a matter of eyesight, I suppose.

"Well, I think this isn't to be my lucky day," said Uncle Wiggily at last, when he could pick no four-leaf clover. "However, I shall not let that worry me. Let me do something for you, Nurse Jane. I may get an adventure out of it, even if I find no rare clovers."

"Very well, you may go to the store for me and bring me a box of pepper," said the muskrat lady. "I am going to make pickled beads this afternoon."

Off hopped Uncle Wiggily, over the fields and through the woods, on his way to the store to get the pickling pepper.

"Be careful not to spill any of the pepper, so that it flies up your nose, or you'll sneeze," Uncle Wiggily warned the monkey doodle gentleman at the grocery store.

"I'll be careful," promised Mr. Longears. Homeward on his way he hopped, carrying the pepper. "I'll go through a clover field and see if I can find at least one with four leaves," said the bunny to himself. Through the field he hopped when, all of a sudden, there was a rustling in the bushes and out came the Fuzzy Fox.

"Ah, ha! Ah, ho!" barked the Fox. "This time you shall not get away, Uncle Wiggily! I'll nibble your ears!"

"Not if I can help it!" cried

the bunny, and away he hopped as fast as the wind. But the Fox came after him, drawing nearer and nearer, until Uncle Wiggily could hear the pitter-patter of the bad chap's toenails on the dried leaves and grass of the field.

"Oh, I must get away! I must get safely home with Nurse Jane's pickling pepper!" panted Uncle Wiggily. The Fox was close behind him. Suddenly, just ahead of him, Uncle Wiggily saw what he had never been able to see before in his life—A Four-Leaf Clover!

"Oh, I must stop and pick that, Fox or no Fox," thought the bunny. "It may give me good luck." Uncle Wiggily stopped short to pick the four-leaf clover. And the Fox was so close behind him that when the bunny stopped the Fox hopped into him, turned a somersault head over heels and came down on his nose. And just then the box of pepper fell out of Uncle Wiggily's pocket, the cover came off when the box tumbled over, and over quite a way from the bunny and the pepper spilled out close to the Fox.

"Ker-choo! Ker-choo! Ker-snee!" sneezed the Fox, and he sneezed so hard that he turned another somersault, slipped up into a tree, where he was caught on the branches and he couldn't scramble down for a long time. And before the Fox could get down Uncle Wiggily, holding his paw over his nose, picked up what was left of the pepper and hurried home with it.

"Nurse Jane!" he cried. "I found a four-leaf clover and it surely brought me good luck! Hurray! Hurray! Hurray!"

And so everything ended happily, and the pickled beads were very good. So if the lead pencil doesn't forget to put its rubber on when it goes walking with the fountain pen, you shall hear next about Uncle Wiggily's corn roast.

Totals on the vote cast by Glendale voters for leading candidates at the primaries held Tuesday have already been published in the Evening News but for the benefit of those who desire to analyze the returns the complete figures, excepting the Prohibition and Socialist, are given in the adjoining columns.

Glendale's ballot cast on Tuesday, while not showing a heavy Prohibition vote, nevertheless demonstrated that that party was actively interested in its candidates for the Prohibitionist nominees.

Cast Votes for Jones
Of the names appearing on the Prohibitionist ballot that of Charles H. Randall, candidate for representative in congress, Ninth district, received the most attention, 105 votes being cast to his credit. H. Clay Needham, candidate for United States senator, came next with 85 votes; and James P. M. Jensen, candidate for secretary of state, next with 84 votes.

In marking their ballots for governor the Glendale Prohibitionists gave Mattison B. Jones 65 votes and William D. Stephens 55. The other two nominees on the Prohibitionist ballot were Charles R. Burger and Franklin D. Mather, candidates for state senator, thirty-sixth district, Burger receiving 53 votes and Mather 46.

Socialist Ticket
Final returns from the polls showed that Glendale voters cast fourteen votes for nominees on the Socialist ticket at the Tuesday election. That is the candidate for governor and lieutenant governor, Alexander Horr and Isabel C. King, each receiving fourteen votes, while Upton Sinclair, Socialist candidate for United States senator, gained one more vote, totaling fifteen.

The votes for governor and lieutenant governor were distributed over eight precincts. Horr's vote was: Precinct three, 1 vote; precinct five, 1 vote; precinct seven, 1 vote; precinct twelve, 5 votes; precinct thirteen, 1 vote; precinct fourteen, 2 votes; precinct fifteen, 1 vote; precinct twenty-four, 2 votes.

Woman Candidate
Isabel C. King, woman candidate for lieutenant governor, received fourteen votes also, her votes being: Precinct three, 1 vote; precinct nine, 1 vote; precinct twelve, 6 votes; precinct thirteen, 1 vote; precinct fourteen, 2 votes; precinct fifteen, 1 vote; precinct twenty-four, 2 votes.

As for Upton Sinclair, well known Socialist leader and writer, who was candidate for United States senator, his votes were as follows: Precinct three, 1 vote; precinct five, 1 vote; precinct seven, 1 vote; precinct twelve, 4 votes; precinct thirteen, 1 vote; precinct fourteen, 2 votes; precinct fifteen, 1 vote; precinct twenty-five, 2 votes.

Republican Nominee Will Continue Campaign on Economy Promise
SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1.—Friend W. Richardson chosen at today's election as republican nominee for governor, has made the following statement:

"I propose to put the state on a business basis and eliminate unnecessary officers and commissions. Richardson's statement follows, full:

"The one big issue in the primary fight was economy in state affairs and on that issue I have won the republican nomination. In my campaign I will continue to teach economy and if elected I propose to put the state on a business basis, eliminate unnecessary officers and commissions and see that for every dollar of taxes there is 100 per cent of service. There is studied state finances from the vantage ground of the treasurer's office for the past seven years and know, if elected, that I can save the people millions of dollars. I am very grateful to my many friends, and especially to the newspaper men throughout the state, who supported me voluntarily and donated not only their columns but their advertising space as well to my campaign."

London Long-Beards Score Revived Game

LONDON—England's bearded population is up in arms. A tip in Oxford and Cambridge the unrespectful students revived the ancient game of "beaver." When two friends are walking down the street they watch out for the bearded men and as soon as they spy one they cry "beaver." The length of beards and their color count in the scoring. "Now all up and down Piccadilly here are cries of 'beaver.' Even the troops, marching to and from their barracks, play the 'beaver' game. Indignant old men splutter about insults, and the Times is full of letters of complaints.

Sept. 2nd Sept. 5th
Mrs. Helen Skinner, an expert canner, will be in our store Saturday and Tuesday to demonstrate the Kerr Mason self-sealing jars. The Kerr Mason Fruit Jar is self-sealing—seals so tightly that all food is preserved. The wide-mouth Kerr Jars make it practical to can large fruits without slicing and are most sanitary, as the hand easily goes inside to wash and dry.

Burglars who ransacked the home of J. A. Gillies in Connecticut during the family's absence, carried acid with them to test the family plate. Discarding such silvers as did not come up to standard, they took the rest valued at $3,000; also fur coat and sealskin garments which they accepted at face value. Burglary is one of the oldest professions, but it made little advance until the age of specialists arrived.

FIRM BELIEF IS PICTURE'S THEME

Thomas Meighan Tells About Film and His Faith In Its Full Success

According to Thomas Meighan, star in "If You Believe It, It's So," his new picture which Ralph Allan of the T. D. & L. theatre announces for presentation today his theory is that if you believe a thing firmly, it must be so.

"We believed in this story from the very start," said Mr. Meighan, "there's nothing like confidence in a thing to make it come out right. If you believe a thing firmly enough it will very likely be a fact before you're through believing in it and in a way that's the theme of the picture. After all, the big things that take place in the world all have a mental origin and, because somebody believed in them sufficiently, they were realized."

"I feel that I am willing to bank on my statement that this picture will be one of the best in which I have ever appeared. Paramount believes in it, and to prove it gave me a supporting cast that couldn't be beaten. We developed every point to its last possible degree. And we can't see where there's a loophole for doubt."

Mr. Meighan will be seen in "If You Believe It, It's So," at the T. D. & L. theatre today. Ralph Allan is preparing to handle record crowds.

WALT HEIDLER TO CLIMB ON HILL IF REQUIRED

Boy Who Twirled Victory Once Before Ready to Pitch If Summoned

Walt Heidler, whirlwind pitcher with the Glendale Merchants, will be ready to twirl in Sunday's game if it becomes necessary. Harris will start on the mound for the Merchants, according to present plans, but local fans will feel easier to learn that Heidler is back in uniform.

Several weeks ago Walt severely injured the thumb of his left hand and has had it bound up ever since. Although it is not yet completely healed, he believes that he can pitch as well as ever, even if he isn't yet able to stop any fast ones with his gloved left hand.

Defeated Them Once

Heidler is the boy who twirled when the locals handed the Cleary Athletic Club of Los Angeles a 5 to 3 defeat early in August. It was the day after he pitched that sensational game that he received the injury and hasn't played in a game since. However, all this week he has been working out, putting over his trick balls and a number of hot ones.

King, catching for the Merchants, complains that when Walt pitches to him his hand is sore for a week, although he uses a large sponge for extra padding. Heidler has a world of speed and controls his offerings accurately.

Harris, who is scheduled to pitch, is said to be in excellent form. The tall boy is a real pitcher, and is capable of handing the Clearys a string of strikes that they couldn't touch with anything less than a basket, if he keeps his head. The last Cleary game may have taught Harris a number of things, and if he refuses to get mad when the Clearys grab, as they are sure to do, he will hurl a remarkable game.

Expect Large Crowd

Cobb is confident that his men, if they adhere to his prescribed training program until the time of the game, will be able to show the Clearys a lot of things about baseball that they never knew before. The game will undoubtedly be a tough one, and the Merchants will have to battle for every score they chalk up.

Out of courtesy to the Clearys, the game will be played at the White Sox ball park in Los Angeles, and fans from that city and from Glendale predict a record crowd will attend Sunday.

Chicago Curator Will Seek Ancient Fossils

CHICAGO—A five-year hunt for the fossils of pre-historic animals, extinct for from 550,000 to 2,000,000 years, in the jungles of the Argentine, is the task undertaken by Professor Elmer S. Riggs, associate curator of paleontology at the Field museum of natural history and three assistants.

The search will extend from the Argentine pampas to the Magellan Straits. Particularly ancient remains are expected to be found in Patagonia.

The party will travel by motor truck and a canvas motor boat.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT OF SPORT

By WOOD COWAN

"You're through," came the voice from the dugout as "Reb" walked toward the players' bench. "You couldn't beat a high school nine." It was the manager's voice speaking. "Is that so? Put me in the outfield and I'll show you whether I'm through with this old game or not," Russell replied.

Thus "Reb" Russell, erstwhile star pitcher of Big League fame, began his baseball career all over again at an age when most players are dropping out. But instead of climbing back into the limelight up the pitcher's mound, he came back on his bat. This incident happened in 1919. "Reb" pitched one more game for Minneapolis, but, although he won it, he also proved conclusively that he was through. "Reb" could hit and field fairly well so his request that he be put into the outfield was granted, and he came back to the tune of thirty-three home runs in 1921 and ranked second in the percentage column, hitting .638 in the American Association. This season proved him no morning glory, for he has continued his slugging fest at a merry clip.

Next thing we knew, the Pirates offered $20,000 berries for the Rebel. And so it came to pass that the former White Sox south paw—who helped win a pennant in 1917 but refused to admit that he was through as a baseball player—is roaming the Pirate outfield gathering in flies and slugging his team to victory in more than one game back in the big show.

"Reb" refused to be called out on three strikes, proving that he has something else up his sleeve besides a glass arm.

The much-postponed Johnny Myers-Young Stone match, which has twice been scheduled and twice called off, is at last to be staged at the M. W. A. benefit boxing show, which is to be held next Wednesday night at the I. O. O. F. hall, Broadway and Orange street.

A card of five bouts has been arranged for the evening's entertainment, with the Myers-Stone contest as the top-liner. This will be good news to local fans, who for the past month or so have been working themselves into a dangerous heat over the merits of the respective principals. When the bout has at last been staged and the decision rendered, maybe this hot spell will cease.

At the first Woodmen affair, early in July, Johnny, Glendale's fireman-fighter, was scheduled to meet Stone.

MYERS AND STONE DUE TO BATTLE ON WEDNESDAY

This Time They Will Clash Sure, Promise; Card of Five Bouts Offering

The bout was postponed until three weeks later, when it was again announced, Stone developed a case of ptomaine poisoning and a substitute sent in. Now, if Johnny has been keeping in condition for Stone all this time, the scrap should be the real stuff. A week ago Wednesday, Johnny tamed the Arizona Wildcat, and will now change from animal trainer to rock crusher, his admirers assert.

The Wildcat, who hails from Burbank, has evidently regained some of his vicious ideas, for he is to appear Wednesday evening in a match with "Chick" Watson of Glendale. Watson pulled some poor stuff in an alleged boxing bout with Walter Dodge at the last session, and, unless he changes his tactics, is predicted an easy loser to the Wildcat.

Booked for Feature

Kid Essick and Young Woodley, both of Glendale, showed some good boxing at the affair a week ago Wednesday. Woodley earned a draw from Burbank King and in the opinion of many fans deserved a win. Kid Essick, although losing to Rex Hampden of Burbank on account of a knockdown in the third round, was generally conceded to have earned either a draw or perhaps better on that evening. These two are booked for one of the feature bouts for next Wednesday.

Another of Burbank's crop of fighters, Johnny McCrory, is to meet Walter Dodge, Glendale's wrestler-boxer in a bout, which is included in Wednesday's card. McCrory uses much science, Dodge is due to take lots of punishment, which is one of the best things he does. However, Walt is hard as nails and is steadily improving in his technique, and many fans predict that he will show McCrory every star in the constellations.

Still Another One

The other fight scheduled to be between Young Welsh of Glendale and Paddy Mulligan of Pasadena. At first glance it might seem that the Welsh and Irish are fighting it out among themselves, but it develops that this is another chapter of the Glendale-Pasadena athletic rivalry.

Carroll L. Hare, promoting the affair for the Woodmen, promises that the bouts will begin as scheduled, the first starting at 8:15 p. m. As usual, a large number of women will probably be in the audience, while the male fans will be in as good attendance as ever.

John A. Cobb, Glendale's baseball manager who has built up a baseball team in a few months which gives promise of being of championship caliber, is dissatisfied with his own lack of activity during the week. Games are usually staged only on Sunday, except for booking and an occasional practice, time hangs heavy on his hands.

In order to keep himself occupied, Cobb has started an electrical repair shop in the rear of "Washer" Wilson's store at 140 South Brand boulevard. He has considerable experience in this work in the east, and is now prepared to take care of wiring and other electrical apparatus repairs.

Develop New Plan for Blind to Read

PARIS.—The curious pin-hole punctures of the Braille system of writing for the blind will be replaced by a new code of perforations which resembles our ordinary printed alphabet, according to a resolution adopted by the national congress of the workers for the blind. This will enable persons not initiated into the complicated Braille alphabet to read letters written by the blind on their tablets.

There are 20,000 blind in France who have been without the sense of sight from birth. Two thousand five hundred more blind were added by the world war.

The World Over By FRANKLIN B. MORSE. PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

With the close of the twenty-first week of play in the Pacific coast baseball league, the lead of the San Francisco club was materially cut down and there is a likelihood of a race between Vernon and the Seals, not to mention the possibility of Los Angeles eventually getting in the running, the Angels also managing to creep up some during the last series. The teams as they now stand, compared with their standings at the corresponding time last year, show in the following lists:

1922
Club	W.	L.	Pct.
San Francisco	91	55	.623
Vernon	85	58	.595
Los Angeles	82	64	.562
Salt Lake	69	75	.479
Seattle	66	76	.465
Oakland	66	76	.465
Portland	59	84	.413
Sacramento	58	86	.403

1921
Club	W.	L.	Pct.
San Francisco	90	59	.604
Sacramento	84	65	.564
Seattle	82	64	.562
Los Angeles	80	64	.556
Oakland	79	67	.541
Vernon	78	71	.523
Salt Lake	57	89	.390
Portland	36	107	.252

The present week last year was the last in which the San Francisco club was able to hold their own and each series to the close of the season saw them dropping in the percentage column until both Los Angeles and Sacramento had passed them, the former winning the pennant and the latter finishing in second place. The Seals have been going one too strong, and there are many fans wondering whether the history of 1921 is about to repeat itself. One bad series for the San Franciscans and a good one for Vernon will be enough to reverse the present conditions. The margin is none too large.

Vernon has won the last four series straight, the only club to do this during the last month. Los Angeles was at the big end of three of its series. San Francisco, much to the chagrin of its supporters who remember this time

Tagging All Bases

Cassier had his Brutus, Marc Antony, his Cleo, Napoleon his Waterloo and the St. Louis Browns their ninth inning against the Indians. Going into the final inning, the Browns led, 6 to 2, but Davis and Vangilder blew it between them and the Indians scored five runs to win, 7 to 6. The defeat put the Browns 2-1-2 games outside the lead.

For the second time the Dodgers tossed the Giants for a loss, the score being 7 to 4. J. Barnes, Ryan and Jonnard were rushed off the premises in the early innings, but it required a spectacular catch by Wheat of King's smash with the bases filled in the sixth to save the game.

George Morige confined his former little playmates, the Yanks, to four hits. But all of them were for extra bases and the Senators dropped the game 3 to 1. It was the twenty-second victory of the season for Bush.

SPORTS CHATTER By BILL UNMACK. PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

In a recent article "Big Bill" Tilden came out flatfootedly in acknowledging Gerald Patterson the world's champion tennis player. Tilden called careful attention to the fact that when he (Tilden) won the great tournament at Wimbledon the world in general and the United States in particular acknowledged him as the world champion. Now Tilden contends that this country does not acknowledge the same rights to Patterson.

"Gerald Patterson, the present holder, is just as clearly entitled to the world's title as I am proud to hail him as such," for Patterson is a great player who ably upholds all the traditions of champions. If I was recognized by America as must Patterson be."

On September 8, the United States singles championships will be contested at Philadelphia. It is possible that some time during that tournament Tilden will exchange drives with Patterson and should Tilden win it cannot take the world title away from Patterson.

With any of the other players on the team, while Tilden and Richards have been doubles mates for years. The youth, therefore, gets the nomination for his first ally into international tennis.

If the fate of the Australians is to be decided by the doubles match their chances may be regarded with some slight optimism. The combination of Patterson's terrific service and the uncommon ability of O'Hara Wood at this type of play makes of them no worse than an even choice.

O'Hara Wood, one of the best doubles players in the world, saved the match against the French at day. They will be opposed by Gerald L. Patterson, so-called world's champion by virtue of his victory at Wimbledon, and James O. Anderson. Topnotchers both, they yet fail to measure up to Tilden and Johnston on paper, and in a series of four matches should lose the majority of victories.

Should they break even in the singles today and Monday the issue will hang on the doubles match tomorrow, in which Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood will face whatever combination the Americans may see fit to send to the post.

The combination probably will consist of Tilden and the youngest player on the courts, Vincent Richards, not yet 20. Johnston makes an admirable doubles partner and Dick Williams, the American team captain, was co-winner with Watson Washburn in the Davis cup challenge round last year, but neither is likely to be named for the doubles.

Johnston is no physical giant, and three matches within four days do not come under the head of good business so far as he is concerned. As for Williams, he has seldom, if ever, been paired son. Just what the public will figure on a win by Tilden over Patterson is another matter, but of officially and legally and by all the etiquette of the tennis world, Tilden cannot and sportsman that he is, would not claim the world title on such a victory.

At that coming tournament will bring together eight of the greatest players in the world and four different nations will be represented. Wallis Myers of London recognized as an international expert on tennis, recently "ranked," according to his opinion, the ten greatest present-day players of the world as follows: Tilden, W. M. Johnston, Vincent Richards, Zenzo Shimizu (Japan), G. L. Patterson and James O. Andersen (Australia), Manuel Alonso (Spain), Richard N. Williams (U. S.), B. I. C. Norton (South Africa) and Androu Gobert (France). On these ten men the first eight will contend for the United States title at Philadelphia in the next few days, besides probably another hundred and fifty American players, who, included in their ranks, number many men who are in the top-notch of tennis in this country.

With four nations participating in the coming tournament, the United States championship this year takes on the aspect of a small world championship, that is in the personnel of the men participating and the countries they represent. The winner will be the champion of this country and will rank in the lists of the greatest players in the world.

The international flavor attached to this year's championship is a big feature of the titles and once the tournament opens it will attract world-wide attention. Not even the great tournament at Wimbledon, where Patterson won his title, can boast of having any greater tennis stars of world fame than this year's American event, though Wimbledon can boast of entertaining more international players than will be on hand at Philadelphia. As far as deciding a world title, however, this country does not claim that honor, and we bow to Patterson as having legitimately won his title at Wimbledon.

Kilbane Agrees to Box Johnny Dundee

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion pugilist of the world, today announced that he had signed a contract to box Johnny Dundee, holder of the New York boxing commission's award of the championship, in Jersey City, on September 29. The bout, twelve rounds, will be held under the management of Tex Rickard and Frank Flourney. The articles call for 125 pounds, ringside, and provides that the fighters must be in New York to complete their training ten days before the fight.

While Kilbane would not say what his end of the purse would be, he stated that he would receive more than he did for his Frush fight in Cleveland last year, which netted him $65,000.

VALUATIONS TOTAL TWO MILLIONS AT SAN FERNANDO
Assessor's Figures Indicate Big Growth; Van Nuys Displays Progress

San Fernando is metaphorically swelling its chest these days since learning that its assessed valuations total close to $2,000,000. At the accepted method of assessing for about 40 per cent of sale value, the valley city is priding itself on a $5,000,000 valuation. Another item of progress is the announcement that the board of education has ordered plans for an $84,000 school building on Chatsworth drive to house elementary classes.

Hospital Possibility
Among the campaigns of progress conducted by local men none is of greater import now, perhaps, than the favored effort to have Uncle Sam put his proposed hospital for disabled ex-service men at San Fernando. The American Legion, congressmen and army officials have signified their preference for the San Fernando site, and the valley city may hope to gain by the $17,000,000 appropriation which has stirred the veterans, the nation, and several districts which hope to be named as hospital sites.

Dam the Canyon?
"Pacifica Canyon be damned!" might sound like harsh language to those who don't know that the slogan of San Fernando valley boosters is a cry for flood-control and is not consigning the canyon to Dante's well known region.

Another move that has been hatched to the canyon-damming idea is a bridge across Pacifica wash on the San Fernando-Sunland highway. The desire for these improvements, backed up by action, proves the caliber of the inhabitants. Progress is the battle-cry of the day, and it is not surprising to learn that the time-honored fair debt has been killed and buried by the rush of advancement, although W. M. Blanchard is accredited with having stretched the wheels of progress right over the dad-gasted debt to squash it flat!

Van Nuys Speeding Along
But San Fernando is not alone in forward movements. From Van Nuys comes the news that a fine new brick business structure is going up at Sherman way and Leesdale street. There's the town's leading item, but the campaign of the bean-growers' association for added membership is the talk of the "chubbs," which ain't so backward as once they was, accordin' to ol' timers. Instead of allowing their peaches to rot just because the market is not top-notch at the moment, fruit-ranchers led by M. deMarco are drying them. This is easy to publish than news from some other districts where farmers or ranchers sought no unusual means to save their products but plowed fruit and vegetables under!

Sunday Night of Columbus
Next Sunday will be a big day in the annals of the Bishop county council. Knight of Columbus, of Van Nuys, with many nobles invited and major degrees to be conferred under the personal direction of Albert Truax of Toledo, Ohio, a noted ritualist expert, K. of C. circles are all "pepped up" for the big doings. Rev. C. A. Kimmons heads the committee in charge of the rites.

Fairview Tract Unit Lots Sell Rapidly

The ninth unit of Fairview which was opened by Hamlin & Hepburn a little more than a week ago has already been more than half sold. The subdividers point to the fact that the lots are popular because of the desirability of lots in this beautiful, fast developing section of Glendale. "Not only is it desirable, but the terms are the most reasonable which have been offered to investors and home-seekers in Glendale in many years," they declare.

"This property is first class in every respect, ideally located, close to transportation, with an unsurpassed view, and not very far from the magnificent estate of L. C. Brand, all surrounded by high-class subdivisions with high restrictions," say Hamlin & Hepburn, who allow next temporary homes for a sufficient length of time to enable worthy people who have not adequate property herebefore, to start their own home with very little cash capital at the present time.

Given High Honors After Unusual Delay

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—Nearly a quarter of a century after he carried President McKinley's "message to Garcia," Lieutenant Colonel A. S. Rowan, U. S. A., retired, was honored for his exploit, which in the words of Elbert Hubbard, had been told in every language. Today he had the distinguished service cross as a token of his deed following an impressive ceremony yesterday at which military honors were paid Colonel Rowan at the local presidio.

The recognition came just twenty-four years and three months after Colonel Rowan, then a lieutenant, delivered his message to Garcia in Cuba, traveling in disguise day and night and undergoing great hardship. The citation brings out that Rowan not only delivered his message but secured important military information which had great value in bringing to a quick ending the struggle.

Six-Inch Tarantula Killed With Broom

HE'S WILLING
A deaf man was being married and the parson asked the usual question. "Do you take this woman for your lawful wife?"
"Eh?" said the deaf man.
"Do you take this woman for your lawful wife?" this time a bit louder.
"The groom seemed to get angry. 'Oh, I don't know,' he said. 'She ain't so awful. I've seen wuss than her that didn't have as much money.'"

Overworked Button Pusher Wants Relief

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Found—the most overworked man in Kansas City.

He is Cuvier Green, custodian of the iron grate which bars the rabble from the office of Police Chief Charles Edwards.

Green has emitted a loud cry for help. He exhibited a blistered finger, the skin worn raw, from his constant labor of pushing an electric button.

"I want the button transferred from my desk to the floor," said Green. "I want to give my feet a workout for a change."

Groans of Ancient Bell Scare Ringers

PARIS — "Jaqueline," the great brass bell of Notre Dame is silent. The other day while she was being rung she gave forth such groans and grumbings that the bell-ringers were frightened from the loft. There is nothing very serious — her malady is old age, for she now numbers more than six centuries. The pivots and supports are worn out, and now engineers are busy building a huge steel platform around Jaqueline. The bell will then be lifted about a foot from her supports and replaced to begin tolling once more.

BOY SCOUT RALLY GREAT SUCCESS LAST NIGHT

Future Voters Stage Rally at Union High School; Urge Parental Aid

"Parents, show more interest in your boys, and lend your support to the Boy Scout work, for the Scouts of today are the men of tomorrow."

That was the substance of an address given last night at the Glendale Union High school at the Boy Scout after-noon rally and court of honor session, by Rev. P. H. Roberts, pastor of the Mount Olive Methodist church of Hollywood. Rev. Roberts is the scout commissioner of Los Angeles, and was the principal speaker of the evening.

Valley Cities Represented
Scouts and their parents from Glendale, Eagle Rock, Burbank, Tujunga and La Cressa were in attendance at the meeting. The program opened with a piano solo, "The Boy Scout March" by Sousa, played by Miss Bertha Wheeler.

Charles L. Chandler, president of the Verdugo Hills district council of the Boy Scouts made the opening address in which he outlined the work done by the Scouts in the past, and spoke of other goals to be reached.

Exercise Held
Nathan Rigdon, scout commissioner, explained the meaning and the functions of the court of honor, and Captain W. C. Wat-les, head of the court, presented merit badges to thirty scouts from this district, explaining the requirements of a merit badge scout.

Rev. Roberts, in his address, told of various experiences in missionary work and in scouting.
He has worked as a missionary among the Indians and has been actively engaged in scout work for several years. He recommended the scout movement as one of the most beneficial organizations for the youth of America.

Following the presentation of the medals the Scouts formed at attention and saluted the flag.
Scout Robert Hatch of Troop No.
2 Glendale gave an interesting explanation of the meaning of the oath which each scout is required to take as he is admitted into the organization.

Talent Entertainers
Eugene Kille accompanied by Richard Wolcott of Troop No. 3
Glendale rendered a violin solo.
Bugs calls which opened and closed the meeting were given by Robert Seale assistant scoutmaster of Glendale Troop No. 2.

The interest of the Girl Scouts in the Boy Scout work was evidenced by a score of the young women who attended the meeting.

'Friend of Family'
Arouses Hubby's Ire

DETROIT—"I stood this bold Lutheran as long as I could, but when he took my wife out of bed and washed her feet I just threw him out and told him where he could get off."

That was the strange and indignantly delivered defense of John H. Hall when he was arraigned before Magistrate Gundy on a charge of insulting and otherwise injuring the feelings of his former friend and neighbor,
James Scott.

According to the irate husband,
Scott has spent most of his time during the last few weeks around the Hall home acting as "nurse," companion and platonic adviser to his wife. He tolerated all this patiently, he said, until he learned that Scott had assisted his wife out of bed to the bathroom where he washed her feet. Then his admirable patience went "bloody" and he ordered Scott out of his home with angry words.

These words of the "thankless and misunderstanding" husband cut deep into the kind and solicitous feelings of Mr. Scott and constituted the basis for the insult charge.

"What did he say to you that was so harsh and cruel?" asked Judge Gundy, after hearing Hall's story.

"He told me to go to my own home and take care of my own home and quit hanging around his wife, that's what he did," replied Scott in an injured tone. "He insulted me and hurt my feelings, deeply."

Here the magistrate let loose.
"Your own admissions show that you are nothing but a middle-some old woman. Playing nurse to another man's wife, eh? You ought to be ashamed of yourself.
You say you were insulted. You ought to be ashamed of yourself.
You couldn't be. Go home and take care of your own wife. Case dismissed."

Chicago to Enlarge Baseball Grandstand

DETROIT—The Tigers will have a seating capacity at Navin field next year sufficient for the demand. Contractors are at work now, double-decking the grandstand.

The improvement will add 7500 seats to the present seating capacity and will cost approximately $50,000. The work will be done by December 15.

The big central stand is to be extended so that it will meet the pavilions on both the first and third base lines. Above the second tier will be the press box, one of the most elaborate in the whole country.

When these improvements have been made the Tigers will have one of the finest parks in the American league. Its seating capacity will be 27,000.

Navin field is never shy of the cheaper seats, but Detroit baseball fans are always looking for the higher priced seats. The new seats will all be reserved on crowded days.

tablishment of street car service

ence of the transportation com-

Ways and means of conducting a whirlwind campaign to raise the balance of the $25,000 bonus which must be paid to the Glendale & Montrose Railway company for electrification of the Union Pacific line through Glendale behalf of the F. P. Newport com-

ADVENTIST CHURCH OPENS ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT

Number of Glendale Folk Attend; Varied Programs Will Be Offered

store tent; Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital headquarters; White Memorial Hospital headquarters; book and information tent.

Investment Is Heavy
Mr. Reaser and his assistants have been most successful in the stupendous task before them, the immensity of the undertaking being evident in the statement that the total cost of the camp equipment was $32,000 and that 25,000 feet of lumber was required to erect the necessary tents.

Full programs have been planned for each day of the encampment, the day beginning with 6 o'clock devotional services in the pavilion tent and in the young people's tent. Following this there will be children's activities in their tents from 8 till 9 o'clock and then a conference session at 9:30 o'clock in the pavilion tent and a preaching service at 11 o'clock.

After the lunch hour there is to be a preaching service at 3 o'clock, followed by departmental conferences in the various tents and after the supper hour a preaching service at 7:45 o'clock.

Prominent Guests
Among the honored guests and speakers during the encampment will be Pastor A. G. Daniels, secretary of the general conference with headquarters in Washington, D. C.; Elder J. L. McElhenny, superintendent of the Pacific Union conference, with headquarters in Glendale; Elder Roland Quinn of Washington, D. C.; Rev. E. L. Neff, pastor of the Glendale church; W. M. Adams of Eagle Rock, president of the Southern California conference; W. W. Ruble of College View, Neb.; F. H. Westfall of South America; G. A. Graue of Lodi, and a corps of evangelists.

Of particular interest to the Adventist denomination are the biennial election of officers, the election of a board of directors of the San Fernando academy and the selection of a new site for the new $200,000 academy to be acted upon before the close of the encampment, September 10.

New Site for Academy
All three are of great importance, although the selection of the site for the new academy perhaps holds first place in the interest of the church people. At the close of this year the academy at San Fernando is to be abandoned and the new one opened. Nothing definite has been announced as to the possible choice, but it is understood that the church people have three sites in view and will make their choice from them.

Glendale folk attending or visiting the encampment will be interested in the headquarters maintained by the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital. They consist of a service tent, an exhibition tent and four living tents. Mrs. Daisy D. Harris arranged and is in charge of the exhibit tent and the various displays are interesting, original and instructive to all. She and her assistants have constructed a small sand table upon which runs a health train. Further good health propaganda is found in a collection of clever posters.

In the service or medical tent, Miss Blanch Smith is in charge and is ready to administer first aid and treatment to any of the campers. Miss Smith is assisted by two other nurses.

The headquarters of the White Memorial Hospital are exactly like those of the Glendale institution.

Mrs. Everett has been a resident of Glendale for about three years. She was graduated from the high school at Mountain Lake, Minn., and also attended the University of Illinois. Since coming to California she attended Pomona College.

Mr. Everett was formerly a resident of Atlanta, Georgia. He was graduated from the American Georgia, high school and later attended the Auburn, Alabama, Polytechnic institute, after which he attended the Georgia Tech at Atlanta. Mr. Everett served as an officer in the 78th field artillery, first night and later as a member of the wholesale candy business as a member of the firm of Kaighin & Everette of Glendale, where he has been until recently. At the present time he is the west coast representative of a large eastern wholesale candy house.

Dinner and Dancing Party Held by Guild

The first of a series of dinners to be given by the women of St. Mark's guild of the Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Mortimer Baker is president, took place last night at the Masonic temple, when the members of that organization served a most delicious chicken dinner, followed by a dancing party and cards.

The hall had been artistically decorated for the occasion with window baskets of zinnias. The tables were centered with asters, which had been arranged under the direction of Miss Lila Litch and Miss M. L. Packer. Mrs. A. A. Bassett was chairman of the committee which prepared the dinner and she was assisted by Mesdames Atwood, Barnard and Gaurapp. Dr. Frances Ebbe had charge of the serving and was assisted by Kathleen Taylor, Olive Taylor, Dorris Potter, Francis Read, Alex Badger, Charles Gibb, Mrs. Al Sullivan, Miss Gertrude Champlain, Elizabeth Faries, John Faries and Graham MacConomy. Mrs. F. England and Mrs. Louise presided at the punch bowls during the evening and Mrs. R. E. Downing had charge of the card room. Mrs. Baker and Mrs. B. O. Holbrook also assisted during the evening.

More than 250 people were present at the dance which followed the dinner. The melody was furnished by Merle Budd's three-piece orchestra. The members of the guild are much pleased over the success of last night's social event.

Would Divorce Wife As Habitual Suicide

AKRON, O.—Claiming that, beginning less than three weeks after their marriage, she made three unsuccessful attempts to kill herself, Robert M. Hughill has applied for a divorce from his wife, Frances.

Hughill claimed his wife was guilty of fraud, gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

He said that Mrs. Hughill, after attempting to commit suicide by taking poison, seven days later tried to strangle herself with a stocking. On another occasion, he stated, she tried gas.

Fraud was committed, he claimed, when she told him, when he married her, that she was a free woman. Hughill declared Mrs. Hughill has an affinity who is serving time in the penitentiary. The Hughills were married on June 13 last.

Thugs Rob Man Who Rides With Stranger

ST. LOUIS—Joseph W. Oheim, who complained to the police that he was held up by three handits while he was driving in his machine, is not grieving over the loss of $12 taken from his pockets, but the bold robbers drove away in Oheim's car with his girl.

His car was later found by the police. Oheim could not give the girl's name to the police, as he had known her only a "short while."

NOT ALARMED

"Tom, mother was looking when you kissed me last night." "Really? How did she take it?" "Said she felt satisfied you meant business."

LOTS OF ACTIVITY BEING SHOWN BY GLENDALE FOLK

Many More Events Scheduled This Summer; Evidence City's Growth

Have you ever noticed how many more activities, social and commercial, are being conducted every day in Glendale than were common three or two or even one year ago? And this is mudsummer season, too, with many of the progressive citizens away enjoying their annual vacations.

This noon there was the big Kiwanis club luncheon, with Kiwanian Ferguson, chairman of the educational committee, in charge of a program that took him some time to prepare. The Glendale-Verdugo city park will be the scene Saturday of several social and picnic gatherings. Sunday many Glendaleans will follow the Glendale Merchants' baseball nine to Los Angeles to see the local boys trim the Cleary Athletic club aggregation.

Big Banquet Monday

Monday officialdom and prominent citizens will gather at the Broadway Inn, where 150 or more purchasing agents of the northern California and Los Angeles associations will gather at a banquet at 1 o'clock. Tuesday noon is the forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, and Wednesday the board draws up its chairs to the festive table at noon, while in the evening the Modern Woodmen of America put on another fight card at I. O. O. F. hall.

Rotarians Invite Kiwanians

Thursday next week comes the Rotary noon luncheon again, with the Kiwanis club as guests, and while nothing has been scheduled for Friday it's a safe bet there'll be something cooked up before then. On Saturday the 9th, the Exchange club picnic will be staged at the Glendale-Verdugo park, and still another week will be used in with a brass band.

And the best of it is that practically all the programs mentioned are entirely uplift, boost, and progress fundamentally.

Melone Gets Beach Agency Ford Auto

Through a business transaction closed this week H. O. Melone of 309 Myrtle street became owner of the Ford motor car agency on American avenue, Long Beach.

Mr. Melone was formerly connected with the J. E. Coberly Ford agency in Los Angeles.

The Melone family plan to move shortly to Long Beach, where they will make their home. They will rent their residence on Myrtle street.

SUDDEN MOVE BY U. S. TIES MEN FROM ACTION

Wholesale Injunction to Act All Over Nation; Running of Roads Protected

freight, or passenger cars or locomotives.

Sixth—Calling railroad employees names (this probably includes the term "scab.")

Seventh—Walking down a railroad track or right-of-way.

Eighth—Interfering with or obstructing in any manner the agents, servants or employees of the railroads in the performance of their duties.

More Provisions

Ninth—Interfering with, obstructing or hindering the inspection, repair, operation or use of trains, locomotives, cars and other railroad equipment.

Tenth—Preventing or attempting to prevent persons from entering railroad employment, or from continuing in railroad employment.

Eleventh—Loitering in the vicinity of any railroad station, roundhouse, switch tower, water tank, railroad yards or railroad office.

Twelfth—Agreeing with other union members to hinder worker from going to work.

Thirteenth—Telling a worker that it is unsafe for him to remain in railroad employ.

Impassioned Plea

The granting of the injunction came after an impassioned plea made by the attorney general on behalf of "the people of the United States."

"The strike has brought the American people face to face with a great peril," said the attorney general. "They are the ones who have to pay the toll. Neither the president of the United States nor I have any commission from the railroads. The danger to the people is so serious that I have come to this court and urged such a broad and sweeping action."

The temporary injunction is the most drastic step yet taken by the United States government in the industrial crisis that confronts the nation.

In the injunction the American railroad employees department of the American Federation of Labor, together with the six shop-crafts brotherhoods, 120 system federations and their presidents and secretaries were made defendants.

The New York Public Library is experimenting with a method to preserve newspaper files for future use in centuries to come. Japanese paper, which is transparent, is pasted on every page, rendering the page impervious to the agencies that destroy newsprint.

Democratic Emblem 'Stings' This Farmer

BEAVER, Pa.—When is a worthless mule worth $200? This paradoxical question has been answered in the courts of Beaver county by Judge Frank E. Reader.

A Beaver Falls negro tried to give the mule to a friend, who later decided he would not accept. He could not return him, so turned the mule loose. The mule finally landed in C. L. Householder's barn. The hungry Democratic emblem ate up $196 worth of feed while Householder was trying to palm him off on an appreciative borough and the humane society was nagging at him.

He managed to get rid of him somehow, and then presented the bill to the borough for maintenance. Judge Reader said Householder was stung.

Monkeys Interested in Finger-Printing

CINCINNATI, Ohio.—Sol Stephan, general manager of the Zoo, has been away for two weeks on "monkey business," and recently there arrived at the Zoo forty-four monkeys of various kinds and one African baboon. The problem of identity arose, and a fingerprint expert was called in. The monkeys were highly interested in the results and insisted on making additional prints on the expert's face and hands.

May Church Assists Vesper Program

Miss May Church of 225 North Orange street, who has been visiting Mrs. Harrison Loomis, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hart and other friends in Springfield, Mass., was a visitor at the Campanile in that city recently and had the pleasure of taking part in the ringing of the vesper chime program.

Miss Church's familiarity with chime ringing comes from her acquaintance with the twelve-bell Meneely chime in the Sather Campanile at Berkeley, Calif., which is said to be the only tower-and-chime in the country which is an exact duplicate of that in Springfield. Miss Church is expected to arrive in Glendale from her eastern visit on Sunday.
